Special Dispatch to the New-York Times.

HARRISBURG, Penn., Oct. 12—Midnight.—It is conceded that GEARY will have not less than 5,000 majority. He falls short of the party vote. WILLIAMS, for Supreme Judge, will have 10,000 or 12,000 majority. The House will stand about sixty-three Republicans and thirty-eight Democrats; and the Senate eighteen Republicans and fifteen Democrats—a Republican gain of one on the joint ballot.

The State Carried Triumphantly by the Republicans.

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 12.—The Republican Party has achieved another triumph in the Keystone State, electing its State ticket by a fair majority, and in the face of all the peculiar influences for which their opponents have always been unenviably notorious. To night The Republican Invincibles paraded in full force after the result of the City was known, and marched to Broad-street, where an immense crowd thronged the front of the Union-square Club House and enjoyed themselves cheering at the nature of the returns, which, as fast as received by the Telegraph wire in the building, were displayed on illuminated placards. The enthusiasm was unbounded throughout the evening, and especially when PENDLETON'S defeat in Ohio was displayed.

The Voting in Philadelphia—Fraudulent Voting—Roughs from Baltimore in the City.

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 12.—In most of the wards of this city a light vote is being polled. In the Fourth Ward, however, the Democrats appear to be doing all the voting The Republicans being few in number, are forced out of the line, and generally prefer losing their votes to risking violence, though fearing that others will vote in their names. There is much scratching on the local tickets, some candidates on both sides being unpopular. In the Seventeenth Ward there are two Democratic tickets for Assembly. The same is the case in the Sixth Ward. With regard to Councilmen there will be much delay to-night in collecting the returns, as all the candidates are on one ballot and each name was to be counted. WILLIAMS, for Supreme Court, is running ahead of GEARY on the Republican ticket.

An important decision has been rendered in the Court which will have a great effect on the election here. It has been decided that a person on the registry list is not precluded from voting, by the fact of some person having previously voted fraudulently in his name. The contrary was held to be the law early in the day, and in many cases legal voters had no chance to deposit their ballot, their names having been used by repeaters early in the morning.

The Press published an extra, announcing the arrival of over forty men from Baltimore during the night, who were received at the depot by Alderman MCMULLIN and other prominent Democratic politicians. It is alleged that they are to be used in the First Senatorial District in personating registered voters. The election so far has progressed quietly. The new Registry law being in force, challenges are not so frequent and voting is rapid. The registered voters are ten thousand less than last year, so that the poll will be lighter.

OHIO.

A Pretty Full Vote Brought Out—Democratic Acknowledgment of Defeat—Hayes' Majority Over 15,000.

CINCINNATI, Ohio, Oct. 12.—The weather was delightful to-day. The election passed off quietly. Mr. PENDLETON took the entire Democratic strength. There was much scratching, and many voted for only half the candidates.

The temperance ticket received but few votes.

COLUMBUS, Oct. 12.—The victory of the Republicans in the elections yesterday is most decisive. The principal leaders of the Democratic Party acknowledge their defeat, and concede to their opponents a majority for Governor of at least 15,000. In most of the counties the Republicans have gained largely on the vote of 1868.

COLUMBUS, Oct. 12.—Eight wards in Columbus, and one township of Franklin County, show a Republican gain of 618 over 1868.

The City of Cleveland gives Hayes 1,000 majority, a Republican gain of 150.

Cuyahoga County gives Hayes a majority of 2,500 to 3,000.

Summit County gives Hayes a majority of 1,650.

Lancaster City gives a Democratic majority of 26, a Democratic gain of 21.

Chillicothe City gives a Democratic majority of 500, a Democratic gain of 250.

Marietta City gives a Republican majority of 189, a Democratic gain of 41.

Ripley Township gives a Republican majority of 206, a Democratic gain of 189.

In Barnesville the Democrats gain 100; in New-London 54. The Democratic majority in Zanesville is 171. Steubenville gives a Democratic gain of 16.

SANDUSKY CITY, Ohio, Oct. 12.—Pendleton's majority is 193, a Republican gain of 12.

Shelby County—Pendleton, 925 majority; Democratic loss, 100.

Trumbull County—Hayes' majority, 2,400.

Geauga County—Hayes' majority, 1,550.

Seneca County—Pendleton's majority is estimated at 700.

Morrow County gives a Republican majority of 500, a loss of 50.

Later Returns—Hayes' Majority Ten Thousand.

CLEVELAND, Oct. 12.—Greene County—Hayes' majority about 1,500.

Anglaize County—Democratic majority estimated at 1,600.

Champaign County—Republican majority about 600.

CINCINNATI, Oct. 12—Midnight.—Four precincts and three Wards in Hamilton County show a falling off of the Republican majority compared with last year. The Republicans concede the defeat of the State and county ticket in this county.

COLUMBUS, Ohio, Oct. 13—11:P. M.—Returns thus far indicate Hayes election by 10,000 majority, with the Legislature doubtful.

Muskingun County—Democratic majority, 250; a Republican gain of 100.

Pike County—Democratic majority, 250. Republican gain, 250.

Hayes is elected, but the Democrats say his majority will be small.

Hamilton County is doubtful.

Trumbull County gives Hayes 2,400 majority.

Geauga County gives Hayes 1,550 majority.

Seneca County gives Pendleton 700 majority.

The Democrats claim the election of Pendleton, and the Republicans claim Hayes' election by 10,000. This majority will probably be reduced considerably.

TENNESSEE.

Governor Senter's Message—The Senatorial Contest—Prospects of Johnson.

Special Dispatch to the New-York Times.

KNOXVILLE, Tenn., Oct. 12.—The Governor's message has been read to the Legislature. The Press and Herald's special of the message shows that he urges strongly the ratification of the Fifteenth Amendment; says the interest of Tennessee would be furthered thereby, and the people voted for it; urges a continuation of the free school system and comments upon its good effects; scouts repudiation, and advises the sale of delinquent railroads to enhance the value of the State bonds, and asks for action to encourage emigration.

Bills had been introduced in the Legislature to disqualify negroes as jurors, and to repeal the School law and abolish County Superintendents of Education. The Senatorial contest is fierce. JOHNSON'S friends are confident. If he fails a third man will be chosen. NELSON is now named.

THE REGISTRY.

Result of the First Day's Canvass—Great Decrease in the Registered Vote in this City and Brooklyn.

The registry yesterday proved a very quiet one, as scarcely any interest was manifested in the matter, and the several Boards of Registry found their duties very light compared with the first day's registry last year. There were 1,348 registrars and inspectors of election appointed by the Board of Police Commissioners for the entire Metropolitan District, and the Board has yet to appoint 674 canvassers and the same number of poll clerks to complete their arrangements for the approaching election. The entire number of voters registered yesterday in the twenty-two wards of this City was 38,454 against 83,223 registered on the first day of last year's registry, the aggregate decrease being 44,769. The registry to-day and ensuing days will, no doubt, be as light in comparison. The following comparative table shows the result by wards:

Wards.	Oct. 13, 1868.	Oct. 12, 1869.	Decrease.

The War—Defeat and Flight of Lopez—Destitute Englishmen—Installation of the Paraguayan Government—The New Triumvirate—Cost of the War—Condition of the Country.

From Our Own Correspondent.

BUENOS AYRES, Friday, Aug. 27, 1869.

Last mail left the Allied Generals preparing for a general attack on the positions held by LOPEZ, on the Ascurra Mountains. These have at length been carried by assault, and LOPEZ is once more a fugitive.

DEFEAT OF LOPEZ.

Early on the morning of the 12th inst., a heavy fire was opened on the positions of LOPEZ, which lasted several hours. At 8 A. M. several storming parties pushed forward to carry the works, a strong demonstration being made by General VICTORINO, in the meantime, to direct attention from the real quarter of attack. In about half an hour the ditch was crossed, and a few minutes more sufficed to plant the Allied flags on the abandoned earthworks. The loss on the Paraguayan side was very great, being estimated at over a thousand killed and wounded; that of the Allies was but 300, and includes General BARRETO among the killed. BARRETO fell leading the final charge, and was one of the best of the Brazilian officers, being the one who a few weeks back made the celebrated expedition into the heart of Paraguay. LOPEZ afterward abandoned the Ascurra Mountains, retreating with the remnant of his forces toward the Sierras de Caraguatay, (Caaguazu?) being closely pursued by the Allied forces, numbering little short of 20,000, which fell in with the enemy's rear guard, about 3,000 strong, naturally cutting it to pieces, capturing fifteen pieces of artillery, a quantity of baggage, and over 500 prisoners. LOPEZ, accompanied by a few hundred men, made good his escape to the mountains, about three or four leagues away from the scene of the last action, and there he is stated by a telegram from Rosario to be surrounded, though the same dispatch states that it will most likely take some time to dislodge or capture him.

Ascurra was occupied on the 15th, and found to be completely abandoned, not a vestige of artillery, stores or military material being discovered.

DESTITUTE FOREIGNERS.

Among the late arrivals down here from the seat of war are forty-four Englishmen, women and children; the former were mostly engineers on the railway and in LOPEZ'S service. They had been living in the woods near Ascurra with their families for several months past, subsisting on such roots as could be found. They are in a most wretched condition.

THE NEW TRIUMVIRATE.

The Paraguayan Government (might it not be called the Protectorate of Brazil?) was installed on the 15th amid the usual flow of wine, and the customary speeches, rockets and music. The "Triumvirate" cannot boast of much talent, since the men composing it are quite unproven. LAPAGA was a corporal at the breaking out of the war in the Paraguayan army, was during the war taken prisoner three times and escaped twice. The third time he was captured he attained the rank of Major. BEDOYA, the second man, was formerly a trader in Buenos Ayres, which city he left last June, going up with PARANHOS as one of the Paraguayan Commissioners. He remained at Asuncion ever since. The third, RIVAROLA, was a soldier in the Paraguayan service, was captured by the Allies at the battle of Lomas, Valentinas, and ever since remained a prisoner, till elected one of the Triumvirate.

COST OF THE WAR.

An account has been given, in some of the papers here, of the cost of this war, from beginning up to date as follows: Brazil, £58,280,000 and 168,000 men; Argentine Republic, £9,980,000 and 18,720 men, and the Oriental Republic, £1,248,000 and 3,120 men—making a total of £68,888,000 and 189,840 men. That these figures are not exaggerated one would feel inclined to doubt, though they cannot be far from the truth.

CONDITION OF THE COUNTRY.

Apart from these events, there is no news to communicate. The Provinces are, for a wonder, quiet; the Oriental Republic anything but settled, and scarcely likely to be just yet. The question of constructing a port seems either in a state of collapse or to be altogether given up. And, to conclude, sheep farming prospects are almost as bad as they can be, for sheep are dying by the thousand in the Oriental camps. In the Buenos Ayrean the state of affairs is little better, owing to the long-continued droughts—not over four showers of rain having fallen during the past four months, though the apparent firmness of produce abroad seems to have given a little more confidence in the approaching season. A MURDERER'S CONFESSION.

The Murder of a Citizen of Detroit in his Own House by a Burglar—Stewart's Account of the Crime.

From the Detroit Advertiser, Oct. 8.

By permission of the Superintendent of Police our reporter yesterday accompanied that officer, who, with Detective SULLIVAN, conveyed STEWART, the murderer, to the State Prison at Jackson. He conversed with the officers relative to several burglaries that were committed in this city previous to the murder of Mr. WILLETS, and left no doubt that he knew considerable about them that has not yet been made public. He intimated that he was a burglar, although a poor one, and gave them to understand that there had been two "mobs" in Detroit, but that he was only connected with one that made its headquarters at Windsor. Arriving at Jackson, he was conducted without delay to the State Prison and there turned over to the proper officer. Subsequently our reporter was permitted to have a private interview with him, and, after many persistent efforts, he obtained in substance the following statement:

"I was born in New-York City, where my parents now reside. They are respectable and moderately well-to-do people. Besides my father and mother I have one brother younger than myself, two sisters, one older than myself and married, living at Poughkeepsie, N. Y., and one younger, who, together with my brother, lives at home. I learned to steal in the City of my birth, and have three times been sentenced to Blackwell's Island, and have served three years in the Sing Sing Prison. I am now nearly 27 years of age, and was released from Sing Sing in 1860. I went into the naval service after the rebellion broke out under the assumed name of R. J. O'MAHAN, and served several months on the Brooklyn, and was in the Gulf Squadron. From this ship I was transferred to the iron-clad Nantucket and deserted from her and succeeded in getting to Charleston, S. C. I afterward went to Galveston, Texas, and started for Havana on the blockade runner General Rusk, but we were overtaken and had to burn our steamer and cargo of cotton to prevent her falling a prize to an United States steamer. I reached Havana and sailed to a British port on the Atlantic coast, (probably Nassau, in New-Providence,) and from thence I went to Halifax, and subsequently returned to New-York City, where I remained until the close of the war. I then went to Buffalo, and most of the time since have sailed on the lakes; sometimes on steamers and sometimes on sailing vessels.

About ten days previous to the affair that occasioned my coming to this prison, I arrived at Windsor in company with three friends, who are professional thieves, and visited Detroit and concluded to make a strike. My friends took three 'leathers' (pocket books), which enabled us to pay our way. I drank much liquor and my companions said I was worthless, and I determined to sail out on my own hook. I went to GORE'S saloon very often, and drank there frequently. I went to the race, but did nothing of any consequence except 'stand in' with some gamblers. At the race I met MCDONALD and WILSON, and on the night of the murder accompanied them about town, drinking with them at several places, and played billiards with them. One of the saloons I think is kept by a man named THOMAS. Previous to this the three of us were at GORE'S, where we drank wine and whisky, and I got pretty drunk. MCDONALD and WILSON wanted me to go to a hotel with them, but I declined and ran away, and secreted myself behind a signboard so that they could not find me. I wandered up town, I don't know exactly where, and was followed by two men for over an hour.

I intended to get into some house and go to sleep, because I could not find my way to the Howard House, where I was stopping, and because I was much intoxicated. I tried several houses, but found the windows fastened. Finally I came to (WILLETS') and found that the front window opened easily. I pushed up the sash, crawled into the house, and found myself into what I supposed was a parlor. I could hear persons snoring and remember following the sounds, until I got into a bedroom. Here my feet caught into something on the floor and made a noise, and a woman Mrs. WILLETS awakened. I saw her getting up, and I crouched down alongside a wall, but in doing so I made more noise. The woman told her husband to get up. I had previously intended to rush past the woman and make my escape, but remembering that I had closed the window through which I entered the house, I feared to take the risk, and I then determined to lay down and pretend to be very drunk. As soon as the man (WILLETS) got out of bed I straightened up and he grappled with me, and after a severe tussle he threw me down, and commenced choking me. The choking and the liquor I had drank made me lose all control of myself, and I frustrated I got my knife out of my pocket as soon as I could, and used it as freely as I knew how. I saw the woman pull the curtains of the window to one side, and as soon as I could get away from WILLETS I smashed the window partly with my fist and partly with my elbow and jumped out. I dropped my knife somewhere and ran through a field, when I stumbled and fell, losing my cap. I got up again and climbed over several fences, and ran some distance, and, overcome, fell down in the grass and went to sleep.

Shortly after daylight I awoke, and not knowing where I was, concluded to try and get down town, but was arrested before I had proceeded far. If I had been myself I should have remained in the grass all day and should not have stirred until after dark; I was terribly bewildered, and did not know precisely what I was doing.

I did not go into the house to rob it or kill anyone, otherwise I should have provided myself with a 'pop' (revolver.) I had one large and one small knife in my possession, otherwise I was unarmed and in no condition to undertake a burglary. I had no acquaintance with Mr. WILLETS, nor did I ever hear of him before. I am as sorry as anyone that the affair happened, but it was not me that did it; it was whisky. This is all that I have to say at present."

The Latest Fenian Scare in Canada.

From the Toronto Telegraph, Oct. 10.

On Saturday last the Government received information to the effect that preparations are being made for another raid into our country by the Fenian Brotherhood. The news, though it may be surprising to our readers, did not surprise the Government. Through their detectives they have all along been kept fully advised as to the movements and intentions of the Fenians. At a meeting held in New-York, not long since, it was determined to make a raid on Canada this Fall. The date fixed for it was about the middle of September. For some reason, however, the time was changed to the second week in October, of which change our authorities were fully informed; hence the present preparations.

Though the public have had no reason to imagine that a raid was intended, the Government have not been in ignorance of the intentions of the Fenians. Our secret Police appear to have attended to their duties well, and to have kept the Government posted on everything. It was deemed advisable, however, not to disturb the people until danger actually threatened them. We are not at liberty to make public the actual information received; but it is considered sufficiently important to warrant the Government in directing that the volunteers be held in a state of readiness to march at an hour's notice. Orders to this effect were telegraphed over the country on Saturday, and, should it be necessary, the entire volunteer force of the country can be placed in the field at any moment. These, acting with the regulars, would form an army of sufficient strength to cope with any force the renegade Irishmen in the United States may send against us.

Verdict for the Appellee in Senator Howard's Suit—It is set aside by the Court.

From the Detroit (Mich.) Tribune, Oct. 9.

Yesterday the case in the Wayne Circuit Court, in which JACOB M. HOWARD appealed from the decision of the Probate Court in regard to the amount allowed him for his services, performed in various ways in connection with the litigation as to the will of ANTOINE BEAUBIEN, was sent to the jury, who returned a verdict for the appellee and thus against Mr. HOWARD, which was at once set aside by the Judge as being in contravention of his charge, according the terms of which and the undisputed facts of the case, he deemed that the jury could not legitimately avoid finding some verdict in favor of the appellant. The result, of course, is that the case must be tried by another jury. The following is the charge given:

1. If the jury find that the appellant was employed by MCOMBS after he had accepted the trust as executor with the understanding that he was to be paid from the estate, and further find that the appellant under such employment, in good faith, rendered the services charged for, the appellant is entitled to recover from said estate a reasonable compensation for such services, notwithstanding the instrument was finally decided not to be the last will and testament of ANTOINE BEAUBIEN.

2. If the jury find that the appellant as special administrator, in good faith, paid from the moneys which came into his hands as such special administrator, valid claims against the estate of said BEAUBIEN, then the appellant is entitled to recover such amounts. Also such sums as were paid for the keep of the cows and horses of the deceased, while they belonged to the estate after the death of the testator. Also such sums charged in account as were actually paid by appellant after the death of the deceased, for necessary repairs of the building and other property belonging to the estate.

3. If the jury find that the sums advanced to the widow by the special administrator were, under the circumstances, a reasonable and proper allowance for her support during the year following the death of her husband, such advances should be allowed.

Special Dispatch to the New-York Times.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 12.—The campaign in Mississippi is getting very lively, and to make it tragic as well as interesting, political murders are again being committed. Intelligence has been received here of the assassination of Captain J. E. JOHNSON, Military Sheriff of Sunflower County, by appointment of General AMES. He was shot and mortally wounded on the 4th inst. while quietly eating his supper in the town of McNutt. There had been no difficulty between Captain JOHNSON and the murderer upon which apology for this murderous deed can be based; but it was purely a political assassination. A day or two after this occurrence A. M. WHITE, Probate Clerk of Tallahatchie County, which adjoins Sunflower on the north, was shot and severely wounded by the Kuklux Democracy. The Republican papers of the State are full of vigor, and are turning the tables of carpet-bag denunciation and ridicule on Judge DENT with much effect. The last document put in circulation is a certificate from the Clerk of the Probate Court of Cohoma County, to the effect that Judge DENT is not a resident of that county, nor does his name or that of his wife, or any person by the name of DENT, appear on the tax rolls of that county, either as a landholder or poll-tax payer. A serious disaffection has also sprung up among several of the principal Democratic papers in the State. The Columbus Democrat, Holly Springs Reporter, Houston Record, Port Gibson Standard, Iuka Gazette and Canton Citizen bitterly oppose the Dent movement, and favor the reorganization of the Democratic Party.

UNITED STATES SUPREME COURT.

In the Supreme Court of the United States today, Mr. Curtis concluded the argument of No. 139, Paul against the State of Virginia, reported on Friday, and the argument was proceeded with. In case No. 122, Moses Waring vs. Mayor, Alderman, &c., of Mobile, Alabama, Mr. Campbell, of Alabama, argued the question to be decided here is, can the State of Alabama, either directly or indirectly, authorize interference with the plaintiff's sale or its proceeds, situated as set forth, it being imported from Great Britain and brought on as ballast by ships coming to Mobile for cotton, and taxed by State authority. He claims that it cannot, according to the clauses in the constitution of the United States relative to commerce.

Hon. John A. Campbell, of Alabama, who resigned his seat on the Bench of this Court at the outbreak of the war, and was afterward connected with the rebel War Department, appeared for the first time since his resignation and opened this cause for the plaintiffs, and was followed by Mr. Phillips for the City of Mobile. Mr. Campbell also concludes the argument of the cause.

The remarkable coincidence of two former Judges of this Court appearing at its bar on the same day occurred to-day; Mr. B. R. Curtis, of Massachusetts, closing one cause, and Mr. Campbell opening and closing another.

Edwin M. Merrick, of Louisiana; Morris Lamprey, of Minnesota; William Yerger, of Mississippi, a brother of Edward M. Yerger, of the habeas corpus case, and John S. Key, of Indiana, were admitted to the Bar.

INTERESTING DECISION IN THE FIRE ALARM TELEGRAPH CASE.

The Cleaveland Fire Alarm Company vs. The Metropolitan Fire Commissioners et al.—In this case (Presiding Judge CLERKE to-day rendered the following opinion, which sufficiently explains the facts as well as the law:

Only two questions are really presented in this motion. First, does the charter or the act relative to contracts by the Mayor, Aldermen and Commonalty of the City of New-York, passed April 17, 1861, control the Board of Metropolitan Fire Commissioners; and, if it does, secondly, are the words "lowest bidder" to be construed literally and to be accepted in an absolute sense?

First—The title of the act, in terms, declares it to apply to contracts made by the Mayor, Aldermen and Commonalty of the City of New-York, and so does the text of the act itself. It declares expressly also, that the contracts referred to in it shall be executed in the name of the Mayor, Aldermen and Commonalty. When we consider that the act of 1866 invests the Metropolitan Fire Department with sole and exclusive authority to extinguish fires, and to provide all the instrumentalities essential for this purpose, it would be indulging in a very wide latitude of interpretation to suppose that the restrictions of the act of 1861, or of the charter apply to it. The truth is, the Department is necessarily invested with unlimited discretion in negotiating and executing contracts, and is not even obliged to advertise for proposals. The act of 1865 creates a fire district, consisting of the Cities of New-York and Brooklyn, not responsible to and not identical with any local authorities. The officers and agents of the Department are appointed for the term of five years with the consent of the Senate; they are required to report to the Governor, and although the funds necessary for the support and other expenditure of the Department are levied and collected by the Board of Supervisors of the County of New-York, these funds are deposited, and kept in the State Treasury.

Second—Even where a statute declares that contracts shall be given to the "lowest bidder," it cannot be held that these words should be construed literally and accepted as an absolute restriction. In such case, undoubtedly, the bids should be bona fide and should conform strictly to the prescribed specifications, the determining whether a bid is the lowest of several others, the quality and utility of the thing offered—in other words, its adaptability to the purpose for which it is required—must be first considered. The offer in nominal amount may be exceedingly low, while the thing offered may be exceedingly worthless. It may be apparently cheap, while really dear, and much dearer and much less adapted to the required purpose than other offers, for which a much larger amount of money was required. If such the Commissioners were restricted to the lowest bid they would be bound to consider which of the telegraphic systems submitted to their consideration would ultimately cost the City the smallest amount of money, and which would be the most effectual and most desirable. In the exercise of their judgment in this matter, they have decided that the system which they have adopted is cheaper at $426,186 than that of the plaintiffs' at $673,000. In fact, they are assisted by the sworn opinions of several experts; among the rest, by that of the renowned inventor of the telegraph. This right of independent judgment they observed in their advertisement, expressly declaring that "the Board would reserve the right to reject any or all proposals which, in their judgment, do not embrace a perfect and reliable system."

The motion is denied with costs.

SUPREME COURT—SPECIAL TERM—OCT. 12.

Before Judge Barnard.

DEFENCE OF USURY BY THE INDORSER OF A NOTE.

Archibald M. Allerton vs. Wm. H. Belden et al.—In this action the plaintiff asks to have a note of which he is indorser adjudged void as being usurious. He indorsed it to enable Freeman & Co., the makers, to raise money, and they secured him against all liability by reason of his indorsement, by giving him a chattel mortgage. Freeman & Co. raised the money on the paper from the defendant, Belden, but at an usurious rate of interest. Belden declined to sell the note, although it was due, and so the indorser, Allerton, took the initiative and asked the Court to hold that the note is void. To this complaint the defendant, Belden, demurred.

Judge BARNARD in deciding the demurrer said among other things, that the facts alleged in reference to the contract for the loan, make the plaintiff one of the parties to the original contract. Under the circumstances there is room for opinion that plaintiff is a borrower within the meaning of the statute. * * *

Judgment ordered for plaintiff on demurrer with costs; defendant to have leave to answer on payment of costs within twenty days.

Robert Jackson for plaintiff; Marsh, Coe and Wallis for defendant, Belden.

SUPERIOR COURT—TRIAL TERM—PART I.—OCT. 12.

Before Chief Justice Barbour and a Jury.

WHAT CONSTITUTES SLANDER.

Charles Gehring vs. Henry Sissman and Wife.—This was an action for slander in which the plaintiff claimed the sum of $2,000. It appears that the wives of the respective parties got into an exchange of words by no means courteous, among which the wife of defendant said to the wife of plaintiff: "Your husband set fire to his store, and you had to pawn your clothes and watch to get him out of the Tombs." These words the plaintiff charged, amounted to an accusation of the offence of arson. A motion was made before opening the case, that the complaint be dismissed on the ground that admitting the speaking of the words as alleged, they do not amount to a charge of crime.

Though the Court was not quite convinced that the words alleged did amount to a charge of crime, and therefore actionable per se, yet it would permit the jury to hear the evidence. The question which then arose on the testimony was that of the publication of the slander. The wife of plaintiff testified that three witnesses were present and heard the words spoken. One of these witnesses was examined but did not appear that she understood English sufficiently to enable her fully comprehend the meaning of the words. Another witness testified that she was present, but did not hear the words spoken. On this testimony the case went to the jury, the Judge charging that the testimony was insufficient on the question of publication and he be in favor of the plaintiff. The plaintiff alone, he said, has testified to the speaking of the words, while on the other hand, one witness for the same party did not understand the words, and the other, though present, did not hear them. It was for the jury, under these circumstances, to determine on which side the balance of evidence as to publicity was.

The jury found for the defendant.

Charles S. Spencer for plaintiff; George F. Martens for defendants.

SUPERIOR COURT—SPECIAL TERM—OCT. 12.

Before Judge Jones.

INNKEEPER AND GUEST—COUNTER CLAIM.

Thomas A. Harris vs. Frances Curel.—This action is brought to recover the value of a watch and chain, and money, stolen from the plaintiff's room while a guest in the hotel of the defendant on Broadway. The defendant denies the taking, and the value of the property, and sets up as a counter claim an alleged indebtedness by the plaintiff for board, wines and cigars, amounting to $2,500. The counter claim is denied, and it is further claimed by plaintiff that even admitting such indebtedness, it cannot be properly set up as a counter claim in the present action, because it does not arise out of the same transaction, and is not connected with the subject of the action; and the complaint is for a tort, and the counter claim is founded on a contract, and that no counter claim is admissible under such circumstances. The defendant contended that the cause of plaintiff's action arose out of confidence on the part of defendant, and not out of tort; and that, therefore, the counter claim was proper. The Court took the papers and reserved decision.

R. S. Guernsey for plaintiff; Malcom Campbell for defendant.

COURT OF GENERAL SESSIONS.

TUESDAY, Oct. 12—P. M.

The panic of week before last suddenly complicated the affairs of the Lake Shore and Michigan Southern Railway and of Messrs. LOCKWOOD & CO., and it contributed to the previous embarrassments of the Gold Exchange Bank by its transfer to a Receivership. Since then it has been almost impossible for the newspaper Press to obtain any reliable data upon which to base even an approximate report or opinion of the ultimate outcome of either concern, or of the probable dividend to the creditors of Messrs. LOCKWOOD & Co. and the Gold Exchange Bank. To-day it may be said that we are as far off as ever from a reliable statement of what the Railway is likely to lose by Messrs. LOCKWOOD & Co., or the other creditors of the house are likely to lose, or what the Gold Brokers and other creditors of the Bank have to depend upon.

But while feeling bound to admit this state of continued uncertainty we are not inclined any longer to forego the information which reaches us in a very unofficial way, but which after all may afford a reasonable insight to "the situation."

1. We go back to the affairs of the Lake Shore and Michigan Southern Road sixty days since. Mr. BISHOP was then the President, as he is now; Mr. LE GRAND LOCKWOOD was the Treasurer. These two officers, jointly, were authorized to sell $1,024,400 new Capital, to raise the Consolidated Capital from Buffalo to Chicago to $35,000,000, at a price not under the par value of the Stock; the proceeds to await the purchase of new equipment for the Road. Mr. BISHOP returned to the West; Mr. LOCKWOOD directed certificates to be made out for the new Stock in the name of his firm, about the 19th August. On the 7th September notification was sent to the Stock Exchange that after 30 days this amount of new Stock would be on the market. When the house of Messrs. LOCKWOOD & Co. failed, on the 29th September, the Certificates for the Stock, issued as above in their name, and registered at the Union Trust Company, were found involved in the common wreck—pledged, in other words, with the various securities properly belonging to or under the control of the house for Money loans which they found themselves unable to pay. All this was at the personal or individual risk of Mr. LOCKWOOD himself. His selection of his own house as Bankers for the Railway Company was an affair independent of his fiduciary trust as their Treasurer. But the mischief was done, and now the Railway Directors are in pursuit of their new Stock, the sale of which was never sanctioned at any price by the President, and which could not be sold under par, and they are creditors of the individual estate of their late Treasurer for all the Stock, at its par value, which they may fail to recover by redemption or otherwise, and also for the money paid in such redemption.

Aside from this involvement, Mr. LOCKWOOD, as Treasurer, had on deposit with his firm about $620,000 in cash, which constitutes another claim upon the individual estate of Mr. LOCKWOOD, and in both cases, he in turn, has a claim upon the partnership estate, the whole having been used by the firm, as his Bankers. And we hear that a separate assignment of his private estate has been made to Mr. DANIEL DREW, who has agreed to make certain advances for his account to the Railway Company. A third involvement grows out of a very curious affair in Toledo and Wabash Stock about sixty days since, without the sanction of the Railway Company, and outside the legal powers of the officers and Directors—several, if not a majority of the latter being ignorant of the transaction. It is no doubt fresh in the recollection of most of our readers, interested in Railway matters, that about the time alluded to a consolidation of the Wabash and Lake Shore interests was suddenly agreed to at a joint conference between the prominent officials of the two roads and Mr. JAY GOULD of the Erie, who had been making some sort of mysterious, to the scroll of the Wabash, and indulging in sundry threats of a parallel broad-gauge road from a point on the Atlantic and Great Western, at or near Ackron, Ohio, to Toledo. By this arrangement, subject to the approval of the Stockholders in October, the par of Lake Shore was to be made up to $120, and the par of Wabash $100 ℔ share. And a party was said to have been made up among the Directors of the two roads to relieve Mr. GOULD of 25,000 shares of Wabash at 85 ℔ cent., being the whole interest of the Erie Ring in the stock, conditioned that he and they should abandon the Ackron "parallel." That party, now that the consolidation has fallen through, turns out to have been the Lake Shore Company exclusively. They have been charged up, it may be, with part of the purchase money, and are expected to provide the remainder on the 18th inst. The Directors have not yet assumed this responsibility. At the present market for Wabash the loss would be about $625,000, or $25 per share.

2. The estate of Messrs. LOCKWOOD & Co. is understood, this Afternoon, to promise at least 50 ℔ cent., payable to the creditors 10 ℔ cent. in 60 days, 15 ℔ cent. in six months, and 25 ℔ cent. m twelve months. The general creditors will probably accept this or any other fair proposition for release. Indeed, we hear that seven-eighths in interest have agreed to sign off.

3. The muddle in the Gold Exchange Bank is simply transferred from one Receiver, who resigns with an allowance by the Court of $15,000 for about fifteen days' services and expenses, to another, who being Cashier of the Third National Bank, transfers the ready effects of his Receivership to his own Bank. As to promises of early settlement, the Wall-street public were tired of them a week ago, and it would be the part of good sense if the new Receiver would only hold up on this line, until he is ready to do something.

At the Treasury Office to-day the Customs receipts in Gold were $808,000, the amount being increased by the closing of the office yesterday for the funeral of Ex-President PIERCE. At the noon sale of Treasury Gold, $3,958,000 was proposed for and $1,000,000 awarded as follows. The purchases of United States 5-20s for the week will be made at noon to-morrow, at least $2,000,000 in amount. The 5-20s of 1867 closed this After noon at 118@118¼ ℔ cent. after some effor in the morning to bear the market.

The Money market works easy at 6@7 ℔ cent., and the Foreign Exchanges at 109½@109¾ ℔ cent. 60 days London. In the latter there was rather more appearance of business for the Cunarder sailing to-morrow, and there is no extra offering of outside bills this week. The Banks are being drawn upon for Currency to go South, where the Exchange is ?@1 ℔ cent. against New-York, while there is but little demand from the West. The Stock Brokers are not large borrowers of Money on call, as in addition to the reduced volume of business since the recent panic, there is a borrowing demand for some of the Railway stocks and the Public Funds from the bearish interest.

The Southern State Bonds are lower than yesterday, by 2½@3 ℔ cent. on new Tennessees, in consequence of considerable realizations yesterday at 55½@56½ ℔ cent. They are down this afternoon to 53 ℔ cent. In the Railways there was more spirit than yesterday and rather a larger business, though not generally distributed. Lake Shore led the market and sold up to 86¾ ℔ cent. The losses of the Company by the late failure, at their worst estate, are considered relatively moderate to a Capital of $35,000,000, representing a property of first importance and of undoubted great value.

Late in the Afternoon the following quotations were made, as compared with Monday night. With the exception of Lake Shore, the Railways left off lower.

New-York Gold Exchange Bank.

To the Editor of the New-York Times:

The statement published in this morning's edition of your paper (City Department) in relation to the financial condition of the New-York Gold Exchange Bank, is erroneous and calculated to convey a damaging impression. I am enabled to state, from a careful examination of the affairs of said bank, that there are not above twenty unsettled accounts in the clearing department of any importance, and that the Bank is fully able to meet all its liabilities, of whatever nature, without impairing materially, if at all, its capital. Very truly yours,

JOHN S. SAUZADE,
Acting President New-York Gold Exchange Bank.

NEWS OF THE DAY.

EUROPE.

Paris advices from Spain report fighting in Valencia and defeat of the Republicans, the proclamation of the Republic at Malaga and Valladolid, and disorders in Madrid which have been quelled. Señor CASTELLAR has fled to Portugal from Saragossa, having been threatened with assassination there; SUNER, another Republican leader, has fled to France, having been abandoned by his partisans, and SALER has been killed.

The London Times of yesterday in an editorial on the Fenian amnesty meetings, thinks that the spirit in which the Crown is asked to pardon the offenders is too demanding, not showing sufficient penitence, and says, "There can be no injustice or impolicy greater than such an act if Ireland is still Fenian at heart or hostile to the union."

The Times in another editorial on financial matters in the United States, regards the recent panic as a mere struggle of gamblers magnified into an affair of national importance by an act of the Government, and thinks that although the lesson will not be lost, still it would have been more impressive if more severe.

Lord DERBY is seriously ill.

Yesterday was the second day of the Newmarket races. The Cesarewitch Stakes was won by Oberic.

There is another report in Paris that a corpse, supposed to be the murdered father of the KINCK family, has been discovered in Alsace.

CUBA.

A dispatch from Washington, purporting to give the exact status of the Government on the Cuban question, states that thus far every effort has been made to enforce the Neutrality laws and to act in good faith toward Spain; that although urged to recognise the Cubans as belligerents, no valid excuse for doing so has yet been shown; that efforts have been made to induce Spain to consent to the independence of Cuba but no mediation, which would imply war, has been offered; that the note of Minister SICKLES was courteous in its terms, and gave no offence, and the reply was equally courteous, although refusing the offer, and the note was then withdrawn. That the question now stands as it did before, and the Government is ready to serve the cause of Cuban independence if it can do so without violating treaty obligations or being drawn into complications with Spain.

Havana advices report skirmishes in the Eastern Department, in which 30 insurgents were killed, and a fight near Santu Espiritu. Cuban loss 27. Colonel O'DALY, of the Spanish forces, was wounded. Municipal corporations in various quarters are said to be sending in their adherence to Captain-General DE RODAS.

GENERAL.

An Ohio dispatch states that JACOB GOODMAN, of Buffalo, a clothing peddler, was murdered by his assistant, BENNET NEGOTIA, who was with him in his wagon, near New-Haven, Huron County, Ohio, on Saturday, in plain sight of a farmhouse. The weapon used was a piece of railroad iron picked up in the road. NEGOTIA fled, but was pursued and arrested, and $330 belonging to GOODMAN found in his possession.

An unsuccessful attempt was made yesterday morning to rob the National Bank of Townsend, Mass. A like unsuccessful attempt was also made on Sunday night to break into the National Bank at Uxbridge.

The discovery of America was celebrated by the Italian citizens of Boston yesterday, with a parade and picnic.

Vice-President COLFAX was serenaded at Omaha, Nebraska, on Monday night, and made a speech.

JOHN RITCHIE, a member of the Simcoe, Ontario, Common Council, was, with his wife, thrown from a buggy in that city on Monday. Mr. RITCHIE was killed and his wife seriously injured.

On Sunday, at Buffalo, an old man named WILLIAM CRAWFORD, 80 years of age, who was being annoyed by some boys, loaded a musket with heavy shot and fired into the crowd, wounding five of them. CRAWFORD was intoxicated at the time, and has been arrested.

On Sunday night Dr. COLE, of Sattenville, [illegible]

ing his house was shot through the cheek. Depot Master GRAY, of Framingham, was soon after awakened, and on going to the window was shot at twice. Justice ADAMS and another gentleman of Framingham were also aroused, but failing to appear escaped attack. Suspicion points to a released prisoner who wished thus to be revenged on the parties who had testified against him.

The building and stock of the Forcesport Lumber and Stave Manufacturing Company at Utica was burned on Sunday. Loss $15,000. The building was owned by JOHN MOORE, of Syracuse, and the fire is thought to have been the work of an incendiary.

At a ball in Cincinnati, on Monday night, given by the Italians in that city in commemoration of the discovery of America by COLUMBUS, Mrs. ANGELINE PODESTA, 101 years old, led off in the festivities and danced in ten sets.

The Commercial Convention at Louisville, Ky., was called to order yesterday by Ex-Lieutenant-Governor ANDERSON, formerly of Ohio. The address of welcome was made by Governor STEVENSON, and Ex-President FILLMORE was chosen as the presiding officer. The attendance of delegates is reported large.

The whaling schooner Susan N. Smith, of Boston, is reported to have been lost in the hurricane of Aug. 28, and all hands drowned except the Captain and four seamen, who were taken off the wreck and carried to London by an English bark.

Governor HOFFMAN has ordered an extra General Term of the Supreme Court of the Fourth Judicial District, to be held at Ballston Nov. 9, as the one appointed for the 5th inst. could not sit, owing to the storm.

An explosion of nitro-glycerine at Sabago Lake, Me., on Monday, killed an Englishman, named WOOLCOCK, who had charge of the fuse.

The annual election of officers of the Erie Railroad took place yesterday, and resulted in the choice of nearly the same Board as that of last year. The new Board proceeded to classify themselves according to the law passed last Winter, making the classification in such a manner that GOULD and FISK will remain in office for the longest term.

A mass meeting of the workingmen's unions was held at the Cooper Institute last evening, for the purpose of denouncing the existing political parties and taking measures with a view to electing candidates of their own. The speakers were N. G. YOUNG, R. BLISSBET, THOS. CONNOLLY, L. A. BURKE and others.

The trustees of the General Theological Seminary met yesterday, in the lecture-room of that institution, and in secret session elected Rev. Dr. J. M. FORBES, of New-York, Dean, and Rev. Dr. MILO MAHAN, Professor of Systematic Divinity.

By the falling in of a building in process of construction in South Tenth-street, Brooklyn, E. D., yesterday, two workmen were killed and several injured.

The trial of FRANK DRAKE, a colored man, for killing WM. FITZPATRICK, an Irishman, at "Crow Hill," was commenced in the Brooklyn Court of Oyer and Terminer yesterday.

The State Elections Yesterday.

The returns thus far received from Pennsylvania leave little or no doubt of the verdict of the people of that great Commonwealth in favor of Governor GEARY and the Grant Administration. On a lighter popular vote than last October, the Republican majority promises to be relatively emphatic. The City of Philadelphia has especially crowned this victory. From a Democratic majority of 175 last October she returns over four thousand for Governor GEARY—a change which will probably bring up most if not all deficiencies from the lighter popular vote in the old Republican counties, East or West, assuming that a similar falling off on the other side may not occur in the heavy Democratic counties.

A single three-line telegram from Columbus at midnight settled the great Ohio victory over PENDLETON and repudiation. Governor HAYES is triumphantly reelected, and with him, no doubt, a Republican Legislature. We shall not stop to count majorities this morning, but simply announce this Ohio result as one to be rejoiced over by good men of all parties. It returns upon the author of the greenback theory the insult which he and other Democrats of his way of keeping the public faith would have fastened upon the common honesty of a debt-paying people.

Shall the Gold Gamblers be Indicted?

After the scenes we have so recently witnessed in Wall-street, the public may be congratulated that it fell to the lot of Judge INGRAHAM to submit the charge to the Grand Jury, which was organized on Monday. And it will be an additional reason for congratulation if District-Attorney GARVIN shall prove to be an officer whose sense of duty, and of obedience to law, impels him to pursue the investigation which the Judge so clearly invited. The Judge calls the jurors' attention to the crime of conspiracy; telling them that if "two or more persons shall conspire to commit an act injurious to public morals or to trade and commerce," the persons so conspiring are to be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor. He therefore charges them to inquire whether this statute has not been violated by persons engaged in the recent transactions in this City. To guide the jury in their investigations he calls attention to a case in which the combining of rival lines of canal boats, under an agreement to charge fixed and uniform rates of freight and binding themselves not to accept lower rates than those mutually agreed on and to share the profits, was adjudged by the Supreme Court of this State to be a misdemeanor.

There can, we apprehend, be no doubt that under this statute all the persons engaged in the recent conspiracy to raise the price of gold are liable to be indicted and convicted for conspiring to commit an act injurious to trade and commerce. Their agreement contemplated nothing less than the secret purchase of all the gold to be found in the banks and in private hands in this City, with the view of suddenly but temporarily forcing up the price from 135 to 160, and thus compelling all whose business requires them to purchase gold, to pay the difference between those rates. The effect is known. The business of the country was impeded and embarrassed. Merchants could not purchase the gold to pay duties and [illegible] portis could not be sent forward because it was impossible to negotiate exchange. For the time our commerce was paralyzed; the wheels of trade actually stood still; values were unsettled, fortunes were lost, and the personal property of the country was depreciated to the extent of millions. The injury which the combination accomplished was small compared to that which it threatened. Had the "Ring" been able to maintain the price of gold at 160 for a week even, it would have ruined many and would have precipitated a financial crisis most disastrous to the whole country. The timely interference of the President demolished the "Ring" and saved trade and industry from the impending crash.

If the originators of this scheme did not conspire to commit an act injurious to trade and commerce, then the phrase as used in the statute has no meaning.

An investigation before the Grand Jury will furnish the best possible opportunity for ascertaining who constituted the "Gold Ring;" and we trust that the whole subject will be sifted thoroughly and impartially. There are facts which the public have a right to know, and only an inquiry of this nature can reveal them fully and authoritatively.

The Confederate Constitution—Interesting Disclosures.

As a piece of historical information, the letter of Mr. R. BARNWELL RHETT regarding the construction of the Confederate Constitution is both curious and valuable.

At the outset the dilemma presented to the Confederate leaders was this—whether, on the one hand, to cling as closely as possible to the old forms and the "old flag" of the United States, to the approved Constitution, and to the familiar divisions and prescribed scope of executive, legislative and judicial authority, or to strike out in some new path, and essay a "more perfect Union." The former method had the advantage of familiarity, tradition and long experience; the latter that of boldness and independence. However, the former triumphed. The Confederate flag was substantially the old "Stars and Stripes," with some stars blotted out and some stripes obliterated; the national, State, town and county prorogations were substantially the same as in the old Union; even the phraseology of laws was little altered, and the titles and duties of officers were pretty much the same. SEMMES tells us that it was the policy of the Montgomery Government, at the outset, to "confer the same rank" on military and naval officers who should embrace "the new service" that they hold in the old—and his own transfer to a "Lighthouse Board" forthwith was an illustration of this policy. However, despite the protest of Southern statesmen that they were satisfied with "the Constitution as it was," they did in some particulars alter that instrument; and Mr. RHETT, as Chairman of the Montgomery Convention, appointed to frame a permanent Constitution for the Confederate States, is conceded to have been the author of the most important part of these alterations. Hence his present testimony is valuable as a contribution to the history of those troublous times.

Mr. RHETT declares that it was the determination of the South to make the Confederate Constitution "simply the Constitution of the United States as the South had always interpreted its powers, with only such alterations as would remove ambiguity." The first great question hinged on the Government's power to levy taxes and expend their proceeds. "One party, chiefly at the South," according to Mr. RHETT, held that Congress had power to levy taxes merely for revenue to carry on the Government, while "the other party, chiefly at the North," held that "this power should be exercised for different and antagonistic purposes, to prevent importations on which taxes may be collected, and thereby promote and encourage different branches of industry, by giving them the markets of the United States." We do not think this to be an absolutely correct statement of the geographical status of the free trade and protection parties, respectively; however, it is correct enough for Mr. RHETT's purpose, which is to show why the clause referring to the subject in the Constitution was altered by him. This clause, as we all know, runs as follows:

"The Congress shall have power to lay and collect taxes, duties, imposts and excises, to pay the debt and provide for the common defence and general welfare of the United States."

And what Mr. RHETT did was to substitute for the purpose here stated, namely, "to pay the debt," &c., the words "for revenue necessary to pay the debts and carry on the Government of the Confederacy"—which latter appears in the Confederate Constitution.

This, however, strikes one as being "the difference betwixt tweedledum and tweedledee;" because whatever "misinterpretation" could be made of the original clause could certainly be made of the substitute. The latter is quite as general, quite as ambiguous, and quite as pregnant with constructive powers as the former. Mr. RHETT himself was compelled to add, therefore, specifically, a provision that "no bounties shall be granted from the Treasury, nor shall any duties or taxes on importations from foreign nations be laid to promote or foster any branch of industry." This, of course, was effectual—the coup de grace to protection. As a matter of fact, however, the need of the South for the moment was rather to offer a premium on foreign importations than to levy a tax on them; and the provision in the Constitution never, therefore, became important, the amount of foreign commerce being small. The only duties were laid by the blockading squadron, and these were often so heavy as to kill foreign trade, if they did not foster domestic industry.

Mr. RHETT tells us also the history of the internal improvement provision. To the familiar clause in the powers of Congress, "to regulate commerce with foreign nations and among the several States and with the Indian tribes," under which a constructive power to expend money for internal improvements has been sustained, was added a provision that the Government of the Confederacy "shall not appropriate money for any internal improvement intended to facilitate commerce." And it was provided that even in furnishing lights, beacons and buoys, and improving rivers and harbors, the cost should be "laid on the navigation facilitated thereby."

It was Mr. RHETT, also, who proposed making the Presidential term six years instead of four—a really sensible suggestion, though, to be sure, it made little difference, as the case turned out. And it was he, too, that proposed the well-known provisions for removals from office by the President and for making constitutional amendments. Altogether, therefore, this is, as we have said, an interesting piece of history, and the fact that the instrument prepared with so much care was shortlived, does not decrease the interest. It shows, also, that though we hear much complaint against "Constitution tinkering," neither South nor North was quite satisfied to live under the Constitution as it was.

The Spanish Revolution.

The Spanish Revolution, in spite of all its restless pother, turns out no better. Its fate is like that of GAY'S cucumber—cut up, dressed and seasoned with all possible care, only to be thrown out of the window. At the last hour it is discovered to be hard of digestion, and no party cares to own it. "What next?" is now the regular morning question. The Spanish generals and statesmen, unlike their barbers, are not a laughter-loving, but a very tragical set, and each seems to be whetting his sword on the sly, and casting in his mind where first to embowel it. As for the people, it would appear that great numbers of them still have yearnings for a monarchy, but there is no available material. Bourbonism is hopelessly rotten, and the other monarchical stocks are all worn out to the stumps. There is no chance for a republic, because there is no real republican constituency but guerrillas and outlaws. As the one fault of Orlando's horse was that he was dead, so the one fault of a Spanish Republic is that there are no republicans to give life to it. It has ever proved so. Revolutions have always been easy enough in Southern Europe—but the settlement—there's the rub. It is impossible to say what will come of this Spanish tangle. Full of all wants and objections, and with no means either of satisfying or removing them, the Spaniards seem about reduced to the extremity of the man who, after seriously and carefully reflecting for a week on the best line of conduct to pursue in a political crisis, ends by throwing up a piece of coin, and intrusting his determination to the chance of either head or tail coming upward. We look now to see the coin in the air any day, with the effigy upon it of either SERRANO, MONTPENSIER or the Duke of GENOA—it don't matter much which.

State Taxes on Railway Trave.

The Supreme Court of the United States decided in the case of CRANDALL vs. The State of Nevada (6 Wallace, p. 39) that no one of the United States could impose a tax upon those who were obliged to pass through the territory of such State on their way to the National Capital. The reasoning of the Court is broad and general, and applies to every device by which such a charge may be sought to be imposed on the traveler. So that it may now be regarded as the law of the land that it is not competent for any State to take to itself any profit of those fares which a common carrier is authorized to charge for conveying passengers through its limits.

It is not likely, in view of this decision, that any State will attempt again to lay a direct tax upon such passengers. But an effort may be made to arrive at the same result by some indirect method. It is stated that some contract exists between the State of Maryland and the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad, by virtue of which the State claims that the railroad is bound to pay into its treasury a fifth of all the revenue which it receives from passengers traveling between Baltimore and Washington, and that this claim is not resisted by the Railroad Company. Possibly some difference can be discerned in principle between a tax imposed by the State and a sum agreed by the Company itself to be paid, but the result to the passenger is the same. He is compelled to pay one-fifth more fare then he would otherwise be called upon for. One reason given by the Supreme Court for its ruling in the Nevada case was that to sustain the power to tax would be to give to a State the power to exclude citizens of other States from the capital of the nation. The same result might follow in the case of this agreement, only the power would be then given not to a State alone, but to a State and a railroad company combined. The principle which prohibited the former case ought equally to extend to the latter.

The difficulty is to reach the matter. In the Nevada case a penalty had been affixed to the refusal of any stage proprietor to collect the tax, and the matter was brought before the Courts by a person who had so refused and had been prosecuted for the penalty. But if the carrier and the State agree as to the collecting of the tax or the payment of the share of the passage money, who is to bring up the question? Transient passengers are not likely to enter upon serious litigation for such small amounts. If public sentiment is not powerful enough to prevent such combinations between States and common carriers, the only remedy would seem to be legislation. If the free passage of the citizen from one end to the other of the country is thus interfered with, it would seem to be an evil for which penal legislation on the part of Congress is the remedy.

The demand for a "Third Party" was re-echoed in this City last night, and from a quarter demanding all possible respect. The working classes were not very largely represented, but the resolutions evidently commended themselves to the approbation of most of the persons actually present. Nevertheless, we still take leave to think that the whole project of a third party is a mistake, and that even if such a party were [illegible] all earnest men who put faith in it. Organizations of this kind are usually made the means of promoting individual ends, and corruption is not less rife in them than in combinations of larger standing. Many of the resolutions passed last night embody principles which command our warmest sympathy, but all that is good in them could be accomplished by hearty coöperation with Republicans. The idea of a "Labor Party" may be attractive at first sight, but it rests upon no solid basis, and workingmen would injure their own interests by forsaking their present political friends and taking up with new acquaintance, of whose final aims they know nothing.

Albany and Susquehanna Road.

A paragraph appeared in the New-York Sun a day or two since to the effect that the Erie people had leased the Albany and Susquehanna Road and would soon enter into possession. As this statement has been copied, in substance, by several of the morning and afternoon papers, we were called upon last evening with the request to say, by authority, that no such arrangement has been made.

The registration of voters yesterday was light—so light as to indicate the real danger which threatens the Republican ticket at the November election. Tammany is formidable, but general apathy is worse. The fraud which menaces the result may by proper organization and effort be held somewhat in check; but no mere management can overcome the indifference which leads Republicans to neglect the preliminary business of registration or the final vote. The machinery of registration is, indeed, defective, and the working of it—judging from instances that came under our observation yesterday—is vexatious, not to say worthless. But it is our duty to make the best of it meanwhile. And the fact that some slight trouble is entailed by registration should stimulate every good Republican to exert himself to perfect the roll. Let those who neglected the matter yesterday atone for the omission to-day. There is neither strength to spare nor time to lose.

The dispatch from Washington in relation to the position and conduct of our Government on the Cuban question and the communications which have been held with the Spanish authorities, tells no new story. But the brief recital of facts may serve afresh to dispel some misapprehensions and to show the moderation and consistency with which the Administration has followed the path of duty. With all its sympathies on the Cuban side, it has preserved an attitude of undeviating neutrality. It has withheld recognition from the insurgents because they have been unable to show that they possess a de facto government. For the same reason it has refused compliance with the Cuban request for mediation. But it tendered its good offices, which in the first instance were rendered unavailing by the refusal of the Cubans to acquiesce in certain preliminary concessions, which, while in themselves not unreasonable, would have prejudiced the Cubans in the event of failure. With regard to the correspondence between Minister SICKLES and the Spanish Government, the dispatch silences a prevalent misstatement. The intercourse on the occasion was courteous and mutually pleasant; and though the Spanish officials deemed it impolitic to entertain the proposition for parting with Cuba, nothing was said or done on either side that should prevent a renewal of the overture at a more opportune moment.

The sway of Tammany is still absolute. There are Democrats who rail against its tyranny and corruption, and threaten resistance when an election is far off. But when nominations are to be made they quietly subside, and on polling day they are found obeying Tammany's behests with meekness and fidelity. The Waterbury branch of the Democratic Union furnishes an illustrative case. Although it has been loud in its professions of opposition to the Tammany Ring, at the meeting on Monday evening it placed five candidates in nomination, three of whom are Judges who it is generally understood, will be renominated by Tammany Hall. The other two are General MCMAHON, United States Minister to Paraguay, and Mr. JOHN H. ANTHON. The first of these gentlemen, being absent from the country, cannot prevent the use of his name in this connection, and the other, who was formerly Mr. WATERBURY'S assistant in the District-Attorney's office, will be remembered as the nominee of the same faction for the office of Mayor two years ago. On that occasion, however, Mr. ANTHON held the nomination for a fortnight and then declined in favor of the Tammany candidate, and acted as chairman of the Tammany Hall ratification meeting. So much for Democratic protestations against Tammany and its domination.

The newspaper which follows General GRANT with persistent and unscrupulous malignity is the property of a joint stock company whose most conspicuous shareholders are friends of General GRANT and steadfast adherents of the Republican Party! That is to say, prominent Republicans and supporters of the Administration are part proprietors of a sheet which cultivates notoriety by the daily publication of falsehood, slander and foul misrepresentation directed against the President! Their property is used to injure their personal and political friend, to assail and belittle him, to apply to him epithets and to impute to him motives and purposes befitting only some common ruffian! The fact is too extraordinary to escape remark.

The long talked of reforms in the Civil Service are not forgotten by the people of Philadelphia. A large number of influential citizens, including the principal mercantile firms, have addressed a memorial to their Representatives in Congress, recommending the support of Mr. JENCKES' bill, the provisions of which are well known to our readers. The memorialists repeat a truth which is now only too notorious, but to which a large proportion of people seem insensible. "It may safely be affirmed," they say, "that an efficient economical and a public service so costly and so incompetent as our own." Economy in government is impossible under such a system, on account of the recklessness, waste, or corruption which are permitted in almost every department. The gentlemen whose names are put to the address remark, "no institutions less strong than our own could have endured so long this systematic maladministration and pervading corruption, and even our institutions cannot resist forever the disintegrating forces thus at work." We hope that similar pressure will be brought to bear upon members of Congress in other localities, and that a reform most urgently needed may ere long be accomplished.

In general business there has been a further development of activity in the opening days of the current week. The dry goods interests show increased animation, the jobbing houses reporting a more comprehensive trade at remunerative prices. Breadstuffs have been in more urgent request, in view of the temporary cutting off of supplies by the Canal break, and for most kinds of grain an advance has been obtained. Groceries have been unusually brisk, especially in the line of Rio coffee, of which some 16,000 bags were marketed yesterday; and of raw sugars, the sales of which have been very heavy, chiefly to refiners, who report a better inquiry for refined sugars at a shade higher figures. The cotton movement has been comparatively free, both in receipts and sales, but prices have again yielded a fraction. In petroleum the dealings have been very extensive, mainly for export, at improved rates. Yesterday freight room was reported as having been engaged for over 50,000 barrels, nearly all for continental ports. The ocean freight market closed stronger for petroleum and weaker for grain and cotton. The export trade of the port makes a very encouraging Custom House exhibit for the week, the aggregate of the shipments being up to a currency value of more than $5,250,000.

We are much concerned to observe that the proceedings at the "Woman's Suffrage Convention," lately held in St. Louis, were not characterized by that charming unanimity, good temper and absence of all bickering or unpleasantness which we naturally expect to find in all assemblages of the fair sex. They manage these "female Parliaments" much better in New-York. The chief part of the business consists in eating and drinking at a fashionable restaurant, and consequently no vinegar is seen except in the salads. At St. Louis two of the lady speakers fell to complimenting each other. Presently one said of the other, "That woman always had a desire for the last word." No woman would be worthy of the name who did not resent an accusation so strangely at variance with the well-known peculiarities of her sex. There was a brisk encounter—it was like the meeting of Amazons flushed with the rage of battle. What became of the "last word" in the terrific combat is not stated, and of course neither of the belligerents cared, but we are quite sure that the people of St. Louis most cordially wish that a Woman's Convention would meet there every night. No such lively farces are produced at the theatres in these degenerate days.

A clergyman of the Church of England—Rev. CHAS. VOYSEY, rector of Halaugh, Yorkshire—has been preaching sermons so wildly heterodox in doctrine as to provoke the interference of the Archbishop. Free-thinking has already made memorable inroads upon the church, but very few clergymen have taken so wide a range as Mr. VOYSEY. It appears that he repudiates the doctrine of salvation as held by the Christian Church, and speaks of it as "the most revolting of all the popular beliefs." He also denies that there was any need of reconciliation, or for the mediation and intercession of the Saviour. The Archbishop has instituted proceedings against him, and the case will shortly be heard in the Chancery Court of York. Truly the dangers which threaten the Church of England arise from within rather than from without!

Mr. SHERIDAN, who represents the constituency of Dudley in the British Parliament, has written a letter in defence of his conduct in reference to the Albert Life Insurance Company. The charge against him was that he had taken a very large sum of money from the office, and thus indirectly helped to bring about its collapse. But Mr. SHERIDAN declares that in five years he brought business to the Company worth £1,500,000, upon which his commission was 2 per cent.—or £28,000. How the unfortunate insurers who were induced by Mr. SHERIDAN to go to the Albert office must thank him now! He cannot see any impropriety in using his position as a member of Parliament to carry on this kind of business. Whether the electors who send him to the House of Commons will take the same view or not remains to be seen.

What did Mr. DICKENS mean when he declared that his faith in the people governing was infinitesimal—his faith in the people governed illimitable? The obvious interpretation of the words is that he did not believe in the people—i. e., the nation at large—governing for themselves, but that he did believe in them when they were governed by others. It appears, however, that like the apothegms of one of his own heroes, the meaning of the observation lies in the application. Mr. DICKENS uttered an opinion worthy of Jack Bunsby himself, and he cannot complain if it has been misunderstood. By the "people governing" he meant the class which now governs, intending by this a blow at the aristocracy. Mr. DICKENS has probably forgotten the last Reform Bill, and fails to recognise the overwhelming force which "the people," properly speaking, exercise in political affairs. What settled the Irish Church? What is moving Mr. GLADSTONE to deal with the Irish land difficulty? Surely it is not the sentiment of an aristocratic clique, but the irresistible sway of truly democratic principles. Mr. DICKENS never yet touched politics without blundering over them, and in this instance he seems to have been desirous of covering his mistakes by expressing his views in unintelligible language.

Another nuisance of European cities has been imported for our benefit. We refer to the sensation news-monger—not the concoctor of infamous attacks on private persons, nor the inventor of sham affidavits, but the humbler and more innocent creature who goes about after dark, bawling out startling news which some mongrel sheet has not hesitated to print. One night it is an "awful railway accident," which scares the inhabitants of quiet streets—another, it is the wreck of some well-known steamer of the Cunard or Inman Line. Out rush the startled citizens, and eagerly buy up the "extry" Penny Trumpets which contain the thrilling tidings. When they look over their prize they either find that it contains nothing of the kind referred to by the enterprising newsboy, or that the news has evidently been manufactured to order. We never object to pushing trade, but it is a pity this particular business cannot be carried on without splitting people's ears. The streets were noisy enough before. From the time the milkman comes round in the morning with his unearthly yell, like the wail of a Banshee, until past midnight, the din is incessant. When day is over, the "voices of the night" come in, and the shriek of railway whistles arouses light sleepers all over the town. Perhaps there is no cure for all this, only we might manage to do without fresh annoyances. The "extry" botherations fill the cup of misery a trifle too full. Some things we cannot hope to escape from this side the grave. The drunken man is always recalling "Tommy Dodd" at a period of the night when we would fain rest in the sweet forgetfulness of him. Too early for repose comes the man with the jingling bells on his cart, to buy old bones, clothes, and other godrida. These are the inevitable evils of life, but surely something might be done to rescue us from the street vendor of spurious news!

The English Government has nearly prepared its Irish Land bill for next session; and, at the same time there have been popular meetings all over Ireland on another subject. The people come together to ask for the liberty of the imprisoned Fenians, exhausting a good deal of passionate eloquence in their appeals. On the other hand, the Ministry, while preparing a measure of conciliation on the land question, will probably not consent to set the Fenians free, though such an act of politic suavity would, more than anything else, conciliate the mass of the Irish people. It is a curious medley of cross purposes on all sides. There does not, however, appear to be much of the ill feeling by which alone any measures of pacification could be obstructed.

Mr. DICKENS' characteristic and genial speech, recently delivered before the Birmingham Institute, is not alone interesting for his sake, but for its allusions to the working and influence of that institution, in which near 2,000 of the mingled classes of masters and workmen receive instruction together in the evenings. This place of public educational resort for the adults of both sexes produces results which will yet grow out of our own evening schools, and which, even now, proceed, in a great degree, from the excellent system of the Cooper Institute. The grown-up men and women want schooling just as much as the boys and girls, and many of the social evils are produced for the want of it.

The outcry of the Democratic naturalized citizens against the naturalization of the Chinese reminds us of a scene we have all witnessed in an omnibus. The inside is snugly full—all comfortably seated. A big man comes puffing down before the storm, and hails the driver. No sooner heard than up goes the cry, "All full!" "Keep him out!" The candidate for the wet jacket, nothing daunted, mounts and makes for the upper corner without regard to toes. How the testy old gentlemen hate the new comer! But on the stage rattles, and the shaking soon settles all comfortably down again—when lo! the driver is hailed again, "All full!" "Keep him out!" comes up again in furious volley from the whole company, and, O, the shame of it! the fiercest vociferator of them all is the very big man who last in such headlong style pushed his way in.

The lecture which Rev. Dr. PINNEY, recently from Africa, delivered last Sunday in the Baptist Church of Forty-second-street, and which he will continue this evening, suggests an innovation, which may, perhaps, be worth the attention of all clergymen. It is the delivery of lectures, say on the midweek occasions, on a variety of secular subjects, social and scientific, which need not be very profound, and yet be very interesting. This would give the churches a good deal of popular attraction—especially for the young people and the ladies, who are always happy to go to a lecture. The churches would not at all suffer from this enlargement of their functions, but rather thrive and prosper upon it.

The subject of our dark streets, and the neglect of the duty of lighting and keeping alight the public lamps, has already been alluded to. A ready and effectual means of obviating the evils complained of has been illustrated in a remarkable degree at the American Institute Fair. The method there exhibited is already adopted at the National Capitol and other buildings, and with success. It consists of the use of electricity for lighting the gas-jets. Not only are the visitors at the Fair satisfied with the working of the invention, but the Inspectors of Public Buildings and others have repeatedly expressed their approbation not only of its perfect efficiency but of its great saving of expense and trouble. It is claimed that by this method all the lamps of New-York can be lighted without fear of a single failure, and also that none can be purposely or accidentally extinguished without instant detection. The subject has been brought before a committee of the Common Council, who have reported unanimously in its favor. There for the present the matter rests. Meanwhile, some other cities have sent here to make inquiries as to the expense, &c., and a growing public interest on the subject is manifested in other ways.

Salt Water on the Streets—Details of the Plan to be Submitted to the Board of Health.

This afternoon the details of the plan of using river water for extinguishing fires and cleansing the streets will probably be submitted to the Board of Health by its engineer. The plan, which was first alluded to in the TIMES, is somewhat as follows:

The engineer proposes to divide the City into two districts, the first extending from the Battery to Fourteenth-street; the second from Fourteenth to Fifty-ninth-street. In the first district it is proposed to construct a large water tank or tower 150 feet high, with mains extending over the district. A forcing pump is to be located some short distance from the tank, with a pipe running into the middle of the river. The mains and arteries having been filled, the water would be caused to ascend in the tower to a height of nearly 150 feet, when the pump would cease action. On the water diminishing in the tank, it would at once cause the pump to work and refill the vacium. On the occurrence of a fire in any locality the pipes could at once be attached to the main in the street, securing a plentiful supply of water, capable of being directed to a height of 150 feet. Another important feature of the method is its utility in cleaning and flooding the streets. A constant and unfailing supply of salt water would always be on hand, and the mains being turned on, four or five men could in a very short time clean and flood four or five blocks. It is proposed to do this early in the morning and late in the evening, when all traffic in the street is suspended. In the second district it is proposed to erect a tower 100 feet high in the vacant inclosure adjoining the reservoir on Murray Hill. It is also proposed to erect a second tower to be filled with fresh water. The inhabitants of this locality complain that no water can be obtained either on the third or fourth story of their dwellings. This second tower will force the water to any height in any dwelling. The estimated cost, in round numbers for each district, is $2,000,000, and the working expenses per annum for both districts, will not exceed $75,000. The engineer suggests that the men engaged in flushing the streets could also be engaged as firemen.

Dinner to the California Pioneers.

The banquet tendered to the California Pioneers by resident Californians will take place to-night at Delmonico's Fourteenth-street establishment, at 6 o'clock. The guests will obtain their tickets at the Astor House, at 1 o'clock this afternoon, but gentlemen will find their names on [illegible]

GENERAL TELEGRAMS.

GREAT BRITAIN.

The Gold Panic in the United States—Views of the London Times on the Government Sale of Gold.

LONDON, Oct. 12.—The Times has an editorial to-day on financial matters in the United States. "The writer says there may be circumstances in the financial position of the United States authorizing so glaring a departure from sound rules of public economy, but it is difficult to deny that a mere struggle of gamblers by an act of the Government is magnified into an event of national importance. If Mr. BOUTWELL had persevered more money would have changed hands, more fortunes been made or marred, other brokers gone mad, absconded or committed suicide; and the threat against FISK might have been executed. It is not easy to decide whether this will be for good or evil; it might have allayed speculative fever, sobered gambling madness, weaned some helpless dupes from the Exchange, rid it of some arrant rogues. The lesson will not be altogether lost; but had the lesson gone on to the end it might have been more impressive and its precepts enhanced by a higher cost.

Fenian Amnesty—The London Times on the Subject.

LONDON, Oct. 12.—The news to-day is unimportant. The Times, in an editorial on the Fenian amnesty meetings, says: The Crown is, invited to pardon rebels who do not pretend to be penitent, not because the conspiracy is crushed, but because it is still formidable enough to rally sympathizers. No one doubts the right of the Government to suppress with vigor outrages against law and order. Had the forbearance of the Crown been invoked in a becoming tone, with a recognition of its right to protect peaceable and loyal citizens, an amnesty might be a message of peace. At present we see no presumption that it would be received in that spirit by the demanders, while it must operate as a discouragement to those who helped to crush the Fenian outbreak. There can be no greater injustice or impolicy than such an act, if Ireland is still Fenian at heart or hostile to the union. We believe a majority of the Irish people would rejoice at the suppression of Fenianism, and that some of them who sign the amnesty petitions would be thankful if the petitions were rejected.

NATIONAL BANK LOANS.

The Question of Excessive Loans in Baltimore—A Decision by Judge Giles.

BALTIMORE, Md., Oct. 12.—In the United States Circuit Court yesterday, in the case of JOSEPH B. STEWART vs. The National Union and other National Banks, in this city, Judge GILES delivered an opinion sustaining the demurrer of defendants, and dismissing the bill of complaint, from which the counsel for complainant reserved exceptions to the United States Supreme Court. The Court decides that the violation of the twenty-ninth section of the National Banking act, prohibiting National Banks from losning to any one individual or company more than one-tenth part of the amount of the capital stock of the bank, &c., does not invalidate contracts of that nature made by said banks, but subjects banks to the forfeiture of the franchises as provided in the fifty-third section of said act.

VIRGINIA.

Rapid Progress of Reconstruction—Adjournment of the Court of Appeals—A Colored Postmaster.

RICHMOND, Oct. 12.—The Court of Appeals of Virginia, composed of Judges appointed by General CANBY, met to-day and adjourned until the January term, after spreading on the minutes an order setting forth that the adjournment is in view of the rapid progress of reconstruction, and that in a brief period judicial and other officers may be elected to fill places now held by authority temporarily conferred by acts of Congress. The order adds: "Many believe that the ultimate decision of Congress may be heard in the interval between this and the next appointed term of this Court, and it is deemed expedient and proper not to proceed to the transaction of further business at this time. The reasons leading to this conclusion it is not deemed necessary further to state."

The State Supreme Court.

ALBANY, N. Y., Oct. 12.—Owing to the failure of the General Term of the Supreme Court for the Fourth District, to meet on the 6th inst.,

[illegible] Democratic Convention—The Address—An Administration without Permanent Organization.

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Oct. 12.—The Convention was called to order by Ex-Lieutenant-Governor ANDERSON, formerly of Ohio, who said substantially:

GENTLEMEN: I desire to call this Convention to order with the simple remark, "I hope that it will be characterized by the one energetic effort to restore our country to her peaceful vigor and prosperity."

Prayer was then offered by Rev. S. L. FRANKLIN, after which there was music by the Great Western Star Band. During the music Ex-President FILLMORE was conducted to the stage by BLANTON DUNCAN, amid the applause of the assembly.

After the music, Governor JOHN W. STEVENSON, of Kentucky, was introduced by General D. W. CHILTON, amid much enthusiasm. Governor STEVENSON advanced, and delivered an address of welcome, in the course of which he advocated the claims of Norfolk as a terminus for an ocean line of steamers. He also exhorted the Convention to see to it that capital be not centralized in large cities at the whim of capitalists. The speech was received with great applause.

After music, Mr. BLANTON DUNCAN nominated Ex-President FILLMORE as President of the Convention. The nomination was received with great applause, and unanimously adopted.

Governor STEVENSON then introduced Ex-President MILLARD FILLMORE, who addressed the Convention as follows:

GENTLEMEN OF THE CONVENTION: I appear without preparation; had I prepared a speech I should have suppressed it after the eloquent address of your Governor. With all the undeserved honor my countrymen have conferred upon me I assure you nothing has been so gratifying as this; the war has ended with its logical events; questions have been settled, I trust, never to disturb us again. I have a veneration for the Constitution of the United States. I believe it to be the best organic law that has ever been framed. You know when I occupied the Presidential Chair the Fugitive Slave bill was passed. I freely confess it was against my feelings. I examined it carefully, but found no defect in it. It was constitutional, and although I knew when I signed it I was signing my political death warrant, I signed, and would have done it had it taken my right arm. (Applause.) This reminds me of a former Convention, provisional and advisory, to prepare a constitution to submit to the people. GEORGE WASHINGTON presided over that Convention. The Constitution was adopted by the people. Do you want to give it up? It is broad enough to protect every one. I trust my duty as President of this Convention will be in every respect cordial and friendly. You can do that. I will have but to announce results. I am identified with no political party. Let the objects of the Convention be exclusively confined to the object for which it has been called. I hope the gentlemen of the Press will not report the desultory remarks I have made. I came entirely unprepared.

Colonel BLANTON DUNCAN moved that CHAS. M. THURSTON, of Louisville, be appointed temporary Secretary.

On motion it was resolved that a Committee, to be named by the chairmen of delegations, nominate Vice-Presidents and other officers.

Mr. BLANTON DUNCAN then read a message from President GRANT, which was loudly applauded. It expressed his inability to attend the Convention, but announced his heartiest wishes for its success.

Mayor BUNCE read a message from the City of Louisville and the State of Kentucky, recommending Norfolk as an American terminus of a steamboat line from Utrecht.

The Convention reassembled at 3:30 o'clock and adjourned till Wednesday morning. No permanent organization was effected.

The branch mint at Carson, Nevada, is ready to commence coining half dollars.

The Cashier of the First National Bank, Nevada, has hastily examined the books at Austin, without giving a solution of the trouble there. Notice is given that drafts on the San Francisco Branch will be paid by the London and San Francisco Bank.

Three hundred recruits for the First and Eighth Regular Cavalry passed Elko, coming West, on the Pacific Railroad, to-day.

DISCOVERY OF AMERICA.

Observance of the Anniversary by the Italians—The Day in Cincinnati, Boston and New-Orleans.

CINCINNATI, Ohio, Oct. 12.—Last night the Italians, who regard the day on which COLUMBUS came in sight of America as the date of its discovery, celebrated the anniversary of that event by a ball, at which Mrs. ANGELINE PODESTA, an Italian lady of this city, 101 years old, led off in the grand march, and afterward danced ten sets.

To-night the Italians who date the discovery from the day COLUMBUS landed, will give a commemorative ball.

BOSTON, Oct. 12.—The Italian Mutual Relief Society of this city are celebrating the anniversary of the discovery of America by COLUMBUS, to-day, by a public parade and picnic.

A DISASTER AT SEA.

Wreck of a Boston Schooner—Several Lives Lost—Four Persons Saved After Eight Days' Exposure.

BOSTON, Oct. 12.—The whaling schooner Susan N. Smith, of Boston, was lost in the hurricane of Aug. 28. All hands were drowned with the exception of the Captain and four seamen, who, after remaining on the wreck, which was on its beam ends, for eight days and nights, without food or water, were taken off and carried into London by an English bark. The Captain's wife and two children were drowned in the cabin.

A Midnight Assassin in Massachusetts—Singular Conduct of an Unknown Desperado.

BOSTON, Oct. 12.—Late last night Dr. COLE, of Saxonville, was called from bed on the pretext of being required by a sick patient, and on leaving his house was shot through the cheek. Shortly after this affair, Mr. GRAY, the depot master in Framingham, was aroused, and going to a window was fired upon twice. Police Justice ADAMS, of Framingham, and another gentleman, were also visited, but delayed appearing until the would-be assassin had left. Suspicion points to a desperado just released from jail, for assaulting his wife, as thus attempting to murder the parties appearing against him.

AMUSEMENTS.

"CASTE" AT WALLACK'S THEATRE.

The comedy which in the opinion of many is Mr. ROBERTSON'S best, was last night acted at Wallack's Theatre in a manner that might even have pleased its fastidious author. This is saying much; but to say less would be unjust. Two or three blemishes, or even a single one, might render such praise hyperbolical; but, it can truthfully be said, that in last night's performance no character was acted in a manner to suggest regret for deficiency, or for the more common drawback of exaggeration. One reason for this may be, that the more strongly-marked figures of "Caste" hardly admit of exaggeration; but to advance such a reason is hardly generous, in the presence of efforts that call for much unqualified encomium. It happens very seldom, indeed, that the parts in a play are so happily adapted to the idiosyncrasies of the actors and, that they play into each others hand with so much tact and harmony. Miss LOUISA MOORE, in looks, manner and sentiment, is admirably suited to the heroine. Scarcely any young actress of the day excels her in the delineation of simple pathos, and if this very fact may sometimes betray her into a trifling excess in sentimentality, such an occasion does not present itself in Esther Eccles, whose whole nature is like a Spring morning, both in its dewy freshness and in its unsophisticated purity. Miss MOORE did anxious justice to the opportunities afforded her, and in the trying one at the close of the second act she succeeded in affecting the audience to genuine emotion. A capital contrast was the Polly Eccles of Miss EFFIE GERMON. Her assumption of vulgarity—and that of the English girl of lowly life is not the easiest imaginable to portray, involving as it does certain peculiarities in attempting which there is plenty of room for blunders—was cleverly conceived and remarkably well carried out. Miss GERMON'S promise as a soubrette is undeniable. It requires a large share of not over common talent to play Polly Eccles as well as she does, and to gain so much applause without over-acting. Miss E. MESTAYER was very good indeed as the haughty Marchioness; her conception and embodiment of the part being, we feel bound to say, much more life-like and satisfactory than those of her Mrs. Montressor. Mr. C. WYNDHAM, who appeared for the first time here as George D'Alroy, succeeded in pleasing a New-York audience far better than he has hitherto done. He was natural, unembarrassed, with scarcely a trace of conventionality or mechanical staginess, and fairly established his claims to be received in a line of light and juvenile comedy in which he will find here but few worthy rivals. Mr. HALE, who made his first appearance this season, as Sam Gerridge, offered a genial and humorous sketch of a character presenting no very salient chances for distinction, and Mr. STODDART, in the drunken old father, Eccles, was exceedingly quaint and curiously effective. As what may be termed a genre picture Mr. STODDART'S performance is not often surpassed, and "Caste" is worth seeing for its sake alone, aside from the excellencies by which it is surrounded. We take pleasure in expressing the opinion that this comedy as now played is uncommonly complete as a work of art, and creditable in a high degree to the house at which it is presented. The sharp, bright dialogue, bristling as it is with epigram, with "wise saws and modern instances," and which, in the usual default of plot, makes up its chief literary merit, could scarcely be intrusted to better hands, and we do not believe that "Caste" was as well acted in London on its representation there as it now is at Wallack's Theatre.

Dr. C. H. F. PETERS, of Litchfield Observatory, Hamilton College, discovered another asteroid on the evening of the 9th inst., this being the ninth discovered by him, and making th whole number known 109.

In his new lecture Senator SUMNER contends that the notion of caste is repugnant, first, to the idea of a Republic, and second, to human nature itself. He seeks to refute the arguments used in defence of this system of distinction, first from the Word of God, and secondly, from the teachings of science.

A Canadian paper reports that since Prince ALFRED landed at Halifax he has received and replied to 159 addresses, attended 105 public dinners, and 39 balls, danced with 340 partners, received 1,700 bouquets, shaken 15,000 hands, shot 150 head of game, given 69 presents, traveled 4,500 miles, been elected an Indian chief, and has heard 2,000,000 "God bless him."

JOHN C. BRECKINRIDGE attended the Owen County (Ky.) fair on Friday, and was enthusiastically welcomed by the people. He made a brief speech, and told them he was proud to receive their greetings. Whatever of prominence in life he had enjoyed, to the people of Owen more than any others was he indebted and he now, as ever, bore them in grateful remembrance. He spoke of personal matters alone, and did not touch on any political topic.

Previous to his departure from San Francisco, Hon. CHARLES E. Ex-Governor SEYMOUR repeated his address on the charms of country life at the Clinton Fair on Saturday. He said that there is probably not a farmer in Oneida County who would not sell his farm to the first man who would give him all it was worth and a little more, and he sought to show them the folly of this.

Wayne County, Ky., has lost by death four very old persons within a few weeks. One was 86 years old, two 106 each, and the fourth nearly 100. Of one of them it is related that he was never known to ride on horseback, although the [illegible] mer of house the greater part of his life. This is remarkable evidence of a lack of wisdom in Kentuckian. Certainly he was old enough to know better during the last quarter of his life.

A gentleman in London has written to a friend in Boston that he recently met Mr. DARTSHIRE, the bow-oar of the Oxford crew, who spoke warmly of the manner in which the Harvard boys rowed in the international race, and said that until the trial the Oxfords regarded their victory as easy, but at the close they found it quite the hardest task they ever undertook, and were about exhausted. The writer has no doubt that the Oxfords will come over next year and row the Harvards on their own waters. DARTSHIRE will accompany the crew, but will not row.

THE ERIE ROAD.

Gould and Fisk Again Victorious.

Their Election as President and Vice-President—A Shrewd Little Game, and How it Was Played.

The annual election of Directors of the Erie Railroad Company took place yesterday at the offices of the Company, corner Eighth-avenue and Twenty-third-street.

Previous to the election the old Board met and passed a resolution referring the propriety of the law passed at the last session of the Legislature, relative to a classification of the directors hereafter to be elected, to a meeting of the stockholders.

Immediately thereafter, and before the election of the new Board took place, the stockholders, to the number of perhaps a score or more, met in an adjoining room and passed a resolution accepting the amendment to the charter provided for by the new law, and directing the Board about to be elected to classify themselves in accordance with the provisions of the law.

The election was then held, the polls remaining open from 11 A. M. till 2 P. M., and votes were cast on 353,000 shares. There was no opposition ticket, but a portion of the ticket was scratched—the scratching altogether amounting to about 6,000 shares. The following was the successful ticket:

Directors.—Jay Gould, James Fisk, Jr., William M. Tweed, Frederick A. Lane, Alexander S. Diven, Justin D. White, John Ganson, O. W. Chapman, Horatio N. Otis, Charles G. Sisson, Abram Gould, Homer Ramsdell, Henry Thompson, John Hilton, Henry N. Smith, M. R. Simons, George C. Hall.

It will be seen that the new Board is the same as the old with the exception of six Directors, viz., WHITE, OTIS, A. GOULD, SMITH, SIMONS and HALL, who take the places of J. C. B. DAVIS, WM. B. SKIDMORE, GEO. M. GROVER, GEO. M. DIVEN, DANIEL S. MILLER, JR., and PETER B. SWEENY, most of whom either resigned their seats in the old Board or declined being candidates for the new one.

All the members of the new Board, with the exception of JOHN] GANSON, of Buffalo, O. W. CHAPMAN, of Binghamton, HOMER RAMSDELL, of Newburg, and JOHN HILTON, of Dunkirk, are residents of this City.

After the election the new Board met and elected JAY GOULD President, and JAS. FISK, JR., Vice-President. H. N. OTIS holds over as Secretary, and the appointment of MORTIMER SMITH as Assistant Secretary, was confirmed. JAY GOULD continues to act as Treasurer. ALEX. S. DIVEN, the former Vice-President, declined being a candidate for reElection, and Mr. FISK was put in his place.

The new Board also proceeded to classify themselves in accordance with the law passed last Winter. The following classification was agreed upon:

Homer Ramsdell, Charles G. Sisson and J. D. White, to go out of office October, 1870.

John Hilton, M. R. Simons and Geo. C. Hall, to go out in 1871.

John Ganson, O. W. Chapman and Henry Thompson, to go out in 1872.

Alex. S. Diven, H. N. Smith, Abram Gould and H. N. Otis, to go out in 1873.

Jay Gould, James Fisk, Jr., Wm. M. Tweed and Fred. A. Lane, to go out in 1874.

At the meeting of the new Board the following resolution was also adopted:

Resolved, That the President be instructed to carry out the policy which the Executive have inaugurated; that he be directed to proceed at once to carry into effect the contract with the Lake Shore and Michigan Southern Railroad for a narrow-gauge through-line for passengers and freight to Chicago and the West; and that he be authorized and directed, for the completion, finishing and operating the road, to issue and the Secretary be authorized to attach the corporate seal to $5,000,000 bonds, to be called the "Narrow-gauge sinking-fund bonds," secured by the proceeds of the first nine of such narrow gauge as is provided for in such contract.

PERSONAL.

W. J. HENNESSY is now hard at work on a picture to be entitled "The Poet of Our Woods." It will prove to be one of this artist's most important and interesting works. In it the poet BRYANT is represented in a characteristic attitude contemplating the glory of our Autumn woods. The hour is sunset, and the last ray of golden light rests like a crown on the poet's head. Mr. BRYANT has given the artist several sittings for the picture.

The Steamships Silesia and Russia—Charge Against the Health Officer.

To the Editor of the New-York Times:

I must ask you to give space to a brief statement which would seem to be of interest to the Transatlantic traveling public. The Hamburg steamship Silesia reached her anchorage off Staten Island last night, fully two hours before the Russia, of the Cunard line, reached the same place. The Health Officer visited and "passed" the Russia last night or very early this morning. He boarded the Silesia about two hours after

At the meeting of this Board yesterday a report from the Bishop of Japan was read, calling attention to the great changes now transpiring in that country, and suggesting that the President of the United States be petitioned to instruct our Minister in Japan to use the influence of the Government to bring about the repeal of the barbarous edict against Christianity now in force in that country.

Bishop DOANE read the report of the Committee on Domestic Missions. Especial attention was called to that part of the report relating to the Chinese, and it was advised that the base of missionary operations among the Chinese be changed; that the funds and missionaries now employed in China be transferred to this country and devoted to the work of christianizing the emigrants of that nation now in our midst, but that this be done only with the consent of the Bishop of China and after consultation with the Archbishop of Canterbury and the English missionary societies, and upon their consenting to take upon themselves the work now doing by the American Church in that field. The report of the Committee to whom the subject of foreign missions was referred was read by Bishop ODENHEIMER. Attention was called to the cheering condition of the work throughout the world.

The Effort to Force the Gold Exchange Bank into Bankruptcy—Proceedings Dismissed.

On the 1st of October ERNEST H. ORTON and EDWARD G. TAGUE filed a petition in the Bankruptcy Court, asking that the Gold Exchange Bank be declared an involuntary bankrupt, on the ground that on the 28th of September the officers made payments and transfers to various Wall-street brokers and others, well knowing that the institution was, as alleged, to go into bankruptcy, and for the purpose of giving undue preferences to creditors. Judge BLATCHFORD made an order to show cause, returnable on the 9th inst., and on that day the counsel for the bank appeared, but the petitioners were absent. It was subsequently announced to the Court that the matters in dispute had been amicably arranged. The Court yesterday dismissed the proceedings.

Mrs. Henry Ward Beecher on the Sewing Machine.

From the Mother at Home.

"In reply to numerous letters requesting information and advice with regard to the many sewing machines now in use, we gave in the July number of the Mother at Home our own limited experience, and also expressed a wish that others would favor our readers with the results of a larger and more thorough knowledge than our own. This suggestion has brought us letters from all parts of the country, all, without exception, enthusiastically advocating 'WILLCOX & GIBBS MACHINE.' We have room for but one [illegible] of the multitude of letters before us, but that expresses the general idea of all."

Here we have an exhibition of facts such as we have never before witnessed in favor of any labor-saving invention. Mrs. BEECHER, having given her own experience with the different kinds of sewing machines, invites her readers to offer theirs. Her invitation is extended as much to those having one kind as to those having another, and in reply she receives a multitude of letters, all of which, she tells us, are enthusiastically in favor of the WILLCOX & GIBBS MACHINE!

IT ASTOUNDS EVERYBODY that a colorless, cloudless fluid, like Spring Water, should revive the original tint in white, gray or grizzled hair. Yet so it is. PHALON'S VITALIA OR SALVATION FOR THE HAIR is just such a fluid, as limpid and as stainless,—yet it far excels every other dye or coloring liquid ever known, in imparting rich shades of color to gray hair.—Advertisement.

REAL ESTATE TRANSACTIONS.

Yesterday morning opened bright and clear, but by 11 o'clock it clouded up, and fears were entertained by Messrs. A. D. MELLICK, JR., & BROTHER, that their Westfield sale would not be well attended. Arriving at the depot, though, they were very agreeably surprised. A crowd large enough to fill five cars had collected, and it was an eminently respectable assemblage. Arriving on the grounds a good substantial lunch was found ready and waiting, which received the usual attention, after which the sale commenced. The cold wind swept over the ground from the east biting the ears and fingers of the visitors, causing the men to dive their hands deep in their pockets, the ladies, of whom there were many, to shrug their shoulders, and wonder why they left the comforts of a New-York fireside for an open Jersey field and a cold lunch. They were considerably interested though in the sale, and to a young lady one of the best lots was knocked down. The lots were of rather a cheap character, and, it was generally thought, brought all they were worth. Westfield bids fair to be a populous town; a new station has recently been erected, and many houses are in course of construction. Detectives BRADFORD and PARENT attended, and were, as usual, quite efficient.

To-morrow Messrs. JOHNSON & MILLER have their grand Norwood sale, which has been long in preparation and very extensively advertised. The owners and auctioneers announce that they "mean business," and it is fair to believe that statement. Mr. JOHNSON generally does "mean business," and usually does business too. The arrangements for this sale are very complete and extensive. A grand collation has been ordered at the Norwood hotel and, no expense will be spared to make the guests comfortable. The property is all around the station, within a stone's throw of the depot, twenty-one miles from New-York, on the line of the Northern Railroad of New-Jersey. The ground is undulating, and commands splendid views of the Palisades and surrounding country. Beautiful cottages, elegant villas, a church, school and fine hotel are all on the lots. One excellent feature Messrs. JOHNSON & MILLER have here introduced, that is a public notice to all "repeaters" that they are not wanted; that "their room is better than their company." These persons have of late become a perfect nuisance, and the sooner they are extinguished the better. The special train will start from the foot of Chambers-street at 10:30 A. M. Maps, particulars and free tickets may be had, if applied for at once, at the auctioneers' office, No. 25 Nassau-st.

EXPLANATION.

The Editor of AMERICAN AGRICULTURIST has from time to time put up some COUNTRY HOMES, designed to be models of beauty, comfort and convenience. They are near his own residence, and intended to attract desirable neighbors. They are built with great economy, entirely for cash, and by the best workmen, who do twice as much for the same money as the ordinary run of mechanics. Every piece of timber and every item of work is of the best character—just such houses as any man would build for himself. Every little labor-saving convenience has been introduced, such as bath-room, stationary washtubs, bells, speaking tubes, &c., &c. The advantage of the economy in building is given to the purchaser, as the price is put at just the cost of building, with only a fair price for the large, beautiful lots on which the houses stand.

The houses are sold on very EASY TERMS of payment, say one-quarter cash, one-half on a long mortgage, and the balance on second mortgage, to be paid in quarterly or semi-annual payments, no larger than what one would pay for the rent of a similar house in the country. This enables merchants and others to use their capital in their business, and yet be paying for a house while only paying rent.

Every house hitherto erected has been sold almost as soon as finished, or usually before. Two more new houses, just being completed, are now offered to the first comers. For some idea of the character of these houses, see AMERICAN AGRICULTURIST for March, 1869, (at No. 245 Broadway.) The two houses now offered are somewhat larger and an improvement upon those there described. They have been nearly a year in construction, were plastered and dried during the Summer months, and are now all ready to be occupied. The splendid improvements recently made in the New-York and Flushing Railroad, and still making in the new railroad to be opened in November, render Flushing the most accessible and most desirable place of residence near New-York. Thirteen trains per day now run each way, and the number will be largely increased on the opening of the new road in November. One can now come from Flushing to the City for daily business, or for evening entertainments, with much greater comfort and convenience than he can go down to the City Hall from 50th-st.

The above dwellings are worth looking after. The proprietor will usually be at No. 245 Broadway, from 12½ to 1½ o'clock daily.

WORKINGMEN'S RALLY.

Mass Meeting at the Cooper Institute.

Both Political Parties Repudiated—Workingmen to Make Their Own Nominations—Speeches by H. W. Young, R. Blissert, Thomas Connolly, P. A. Burke, and Others.

A mass meeting of workingmen, comprising the trades' unions and other labor organizations in the City, was held at Cooper Institute last evening, for the purpose of bringing the united influence of these associations to bear on politics in the approaching campaign. The meeting was called to order at 8 o'clock by Mr. TROUP, at which time the hall was about two-thirds full of respectable-looking workingmen and mechanics, with perhaps a score of workingwomen. A dozen or more gentlemen occupied seats upon the platform, in the rear of which was a red banner inscribed with the simple words: "Workingmen of all countries unite."

NELSON W. YOUNG, President of the Workingmen's Union, was unanimously chosen President.

MR. YOUNG'S SPEECH.

MR. YOUNG, on coming forward, said they were met to give attention to the labor movement, which merits the attention of all workingmen. They met not as partisans or politicians, but to denounce the present system of unequal taxation, which tends to make the rich richer and the poor poorer. The present organization and increased harmony of the labor societies enables them to successfully take this step. The labor movement is doing its work, and its results are being seen day by day. Capital no longer stands in dread of labor, but is listening to reason from labor and rapidly becoming convinced. One class views their work with uneasiness and fear—the politicians, who keep the workingmen as slaves and capital. They levy millions of taxes for the purpose of paying sinecure office-holders, and defy the remonstrances of both labor and capital. But these men have discovered the hand of labor writing their doom on the wall. In conclusion MR. YOUNG pledged himself, as the representative of the workingmen of New-York, to use the influence of his position—now strong and powerful—to bring peace and prosperity to the homes of the workingmen.

RESOLUTIONS.

ROBERT BLISSERT, of the Tailors' Union, then read the following preamble and resolutions:

Whereas, Both of the existing parties are corrupt, serving capital instead of labor, assuming the control of the masses by means of conventions, rings, caucuses, and defrauding them, in place of being the servants of the people; hence the necessity of organizing a new party for the better preservation of the Government of the people, upholding the honor and dignity of the Republic, and maintaining the prosperity of the country.

Resolved, That we, the workingmen of New-York City, in mass meeting at Cooper Institute assembled, recognize in the new organization known as the Labor Reform Party, organized on the platform of principles adopted by the National Labor Union, shall make it the duty of every member thereof to serve in connection with the existing political parties, and not support any candidate who does not wholly represent the principles contained in the Labor platform, and makes it his duty to enforce the same and urge the immediate necessity of organizing in their respective districts for the purpose of sending representatives direct from the ranks of labor to represent workingmen in the councils of the nation and State.

Resolved, That while we admit that the Eight-hour Law, passed in this State for the alleged purpose of regulating the hours of labor, was merely a party concession, conceived without honesty and, with no intention that such law should be inforced, we, in the spirit of law-abiding citizens, do hold that the people of this State wholly responsible for the non-enforcement thereof; and we further pledge ourselves, as workingmen, to withhold our support from any candidate who will not pledge himself to an unqualified enforcement of its provisions, and the removal of all legal or legislative restrictions now on the statutes bearing on such laws.

Resolved, That the arrest and conviction of members of trades' unions for conspiracy is a matter which materially affects the existence of all labor organizations in the State, and we feel that if the law on the statute book can be so construed as to make it a crime for workingmen to meet and consult together and make terms for the disposal of their own trades, we shall not cease our efforts to agitate this question until such an unjust, oppressive and tyrannical law is swept from the statute book.

Resolved, That we condemn the present management, or rather mismanagement, of the prisons of our State, and demand that such laws be passed that such branches of business only will be performed in the prisons as will least come in contact with honest labor outside of the prisons.

Resolved, That we condemn the practice of any citizen filling more than one political office, and respectfully ask the Legislature to pass a bill preventing the same.

Resolved, That we pledge ourselves to support every effort to establish cooperative associations for industrial purposes, as tending to secure an equality of interest between the producer and consumer, and a death blow to class monopoly.

Resolved, That the low wages, long hours and damaging service to which multitudes of working girls and women are doomed, destroy health, imperil virtue, and are a standing reproach to civilization; that we would urge them to learn trades, engage in business, and use any other honorable means to persuade or force men to render unto every woman according to her works.

Resolved, That the present system of collection of internal revenue by the Central Government is the imposition of the great burden, mainly resting upon the working classes, which is not only unwise and impolitic, but contrary to the constitutional rights of individual States, and tends not only to discriminate between rich and poor, in favor of the rich, but compels the laboring men to support an organized force of taxgatherers, which, copied from the systems in vogue in monarchical countries, is a disgrace and humiliation to the citizens of a free country.

MR. BLISSERT'S SPEECH.

MR. BLISSERT supported the resolutions in a brief speech. He said Governor HOFFMAN had failed to give the Eight-hour law the attention it deserved, and that he had done great injustice to the workingmen of this State in not supporting them in their movement. He said he would ask if Governor HOFFMAN had fulfilled the pledges he had given to the workingmen at the time of his election. [Loud cries of "No."] He represented that the Conspiracy law was a despotic measure, exclusively serving the selfish interests of employers, and that it ought to be stricken off the statute book.

The resolutions were then read in German, after which they were adopted without a dissenting voice.

FRANK R. PURCELL, of the Painters' Union, proposed the following additional resolution, the reading of which elicited unbounded applause:

Resolved, That the workingmen of the various districts shall have the power to nominate candidates for the various offices; and that the names of the candidates be sent to the Workingmen's Union and the Arbiter Union, so that no more bogus workingmen's candidates may be imposed on the workingmen.

MR. CONNOLLY'S SPEECH.

The Chairman then introduced MR. THOMAS CONNOLLY, the accredited representative of the workingmen's unions of Birmingham, England, to the trades' unions of America. MR. CONNOLLY was greeted with hearty applause. I am proud, he said, of that commission just read that if England had accredited me as Ambassador to any Court in the world. I am here to represent some six or eight hundred thousand of the workingmen of the Old Country, who are marching on to meet the workingmen of America in an effort to achieve their rights. None on all the broad continent are better entitled to a share in its prosperity than those by whose labor it has been built up, and none have contributed more to this end and the welfare of the world than the laboring classes. It is not the horse that earns the oats that gets it. The continent of America exhated long before it was discovered by COLUMBUS, and it only contributed to the happiness and the welfare of the world when developed by the hand of labor. By banding together the workingmen have secured something like a fair equivalent for their labor in England, and I am glad to see the workingmen of America taking rapid strides in the same direction, for nothing else will so well secure and protect the interests of labor. Our organizations in England have contributed to the relief of the sick and destitute, and yet, notwithstanding their charitable objects, the laws of England leave their funds without protection. Notwithstanding an amalgamation of the interests of 42,000 members of the trades' unions, it was within the power of designing men to reach the funds of those 42,000, accumulated for the benefit of their families, put it in their pockets and there is no redress, while at the same time the conspiracy laws remain on the statute book. Employers, though they may never meet, always maintain a tacit understanding to get labor at the lowest price; and have not workingmen an equal right to seek for their labor—their only commodity—the highest price they can obtain? By these societies half a million of men have obtained the franchise. Its first use when obtained was to have a bill prepared and submitted to Parliament in relation to trades' unions, whereby we demanded protection for their funds, and in all other respects to be placed on an equal footing before the laws with all other subjects of Her Majesty. We could not see the reason of a distinction against against trades' unions. We received in response a promise of the enactment of a protection law and the repeal of the conspiracy law. Why was that promise not made before, and why made then? Because they know we have the power now and knew how to use it. If men are in Parliament who will not do us justice, they know we have the power to place those there who will. None can so properly represent our wants and wishes in the legislative halls as men who have shared our experience and sympathize with our feelings. At the coming election we are determined to put at least half a dozen of our own representatives in Parliament, and we have reason to believe that some of the best members of Parliament on both sides of the House are not opposed to it. It has often been noticed that when any question is up which involves the interest of the working classes, the members of the House are found consulting with workingmen in the lobby, and after receiving the necessary information, return into the House and announce their opinions as if they were their own. If the workingmen can give

THE RACES.

The Second Regular Day at Jerome Park.

Invercauld Wins the Jerome Stakes, Corsican the Mile and Three-Quarter Purse, Metairie the Members' Cup, Harbinger the Selling Stakes, and Lady Love and Abdel Kader Walk Over.

The morning of yesterday dawned dull and cloudy, and the heavy masses of clouds overhead threatened rain, causing thousands to abandon their anticipated visit to Jerome Park to patronize the second day's racing. In consequence of the inauspicious weather there was a great falling off in the number of visitors, compared with the first day of the meeting. Still, there was a fair assemblage of spectators on the grand stand, and the excellent racing gave perfect satisfaction to the lookers-on. The Jerome Stakes, which opened the ball, produced a capital race between MR. CAMERON'S filly Invercauld, MR. SANFORD'S Niagara, (a full sister to Bayonet,) and Messrs. PURDY & WITHERS' filly Tasmania, Invercauld winning cleverly from Niagara at the finish. MR. CAMERON was warmly congratulated on the success of his filly, and general regret is felt at his approaching retirement from the turf, for the elevation and improvement of which he has done so much. The winner is one of the Clifton stud stock that will be brought to the hammer on Friday next, and her pedigree being unexceptionable, (by St. Albans, winner of the St. Leger in 1860, out of Eleanor by Voltigeur,) and her racing performances of a high class, she will doubtless prove a decided bargain to whoever purchases her. Mr. BELMONT'S representative in this race, Attraction, unfortunately fell before going a quarter of a mile, owing to the slippery state of the heavy track, and her chance was thereby extinguished; her rider escaping without injury. The withdrawal of Lancaster deprived the next race of all interest, for Corsican having only Aldebaran and Simple Simon to beat, won in a canter. The gentlemen riders' race for the Members' Cup had its issue foreshadowed by the betting, odds being laid upon Metairie, in consequence of that able amateur jockey, Captain ELWES, being in the saddle. His only dangerous opponent was Climax, who had been stopped in his training, and was coughing on the day of the race. Abdel Kader was allowed to walk over for the Maturity Stakes, for four-year olds, of $200 each, with $1,200 added, three miles, for both Vauxhall and Bayonet were hors de combat, and Sanford was not brought out to oppose the game son of Australian and Rescue. Mr. BELMONT'S filly Lady Love had no opponent for the Sweepstakes of $1,000 each, half forfeit, for foals of 1867, for MR. JEROME'S entry was dead, and Intrigue was lame. The Selling Sweepstakes for two-year olds was by far the best race of the day. There were four entries and two of them, Harry Bought and Pantine, ruined their chances of winning by running away around the course before the start. The race between Harbinger (a full brother to Richard B. Connolly) and Mr. JEROME'S Warminster gelding (the first of his stock that has run in public) was a most exciting one; Harbinger being beaten twice on coming up the homestretch, but running with wonderful gameness under the whip and spur again and won a brilliant finish by the shortest of heads on the post. The riding of little BROWN on this winner was magnificent, and elicited great admiration from the spectators. The running of the Warminster gelding will direct the attention of breeders to this untried sire, who is one of the best bred horses at the stud, being by the renowned stallion Lexington, before his recent death was the most fashionable racing sire in England. Warminster is to be sold, along with MR. CAMERON'S other thoroughbred stock, on Friday next, at Clifton Stud Farm, Staten Island.

THE JEROME SWEEPSTAKES,

named in honor of the distinguished public spirited gentleman to whom New-York is indebted for the magnificent course that bears his name, was the first race. It was for three-year fillies exclusively, $300 entrance, half forfeit, with $500 added by the Jockey Club; mile and three-quarter dash. There were eleven entries, of which four came to the post: MR. BELMONT'S b. f. Attraction, MR. SANFORD'S b. f. Niagara, Messrs. PURDY & WITHERS' ch. f. Tasmania, and MR. CAMERON'S br. f. Invercauld. The latter was the favorite, for she had shown unusual game and speed in the Sequel Stakes race at Saratoga, where she ran a good second to Narragansett, beating a strong field of horses. The pools she brought $700; Niagara, $500; Tasmania, $260, and Attraction, $105. Niagara jumped off with the lead, Invercauld second, and Tasmania third; but the latter became second as they went around the Clubhouse bluff. The horses were hid from sight for a short time, but on reappearing Invercauld was seen in the van, leading Niagara two lengths, Attraction third, and Tasmania last. As they passed the judges' stand the first time Invercauld maintained her lead unimpaired, Tasmania having taken Niagara's place as immediate follower. Approaching the quarter pole, Attraction slipped in the heavy sand, fell and rolled over; her rider escaping with only a soiled jacket. Going around the hill Invercauld was a length before Tasmania, who was two lengths before Niagara. MR. CAMERON'S filly had increased her advantage to two lengths as they turned into the homestretch, where Niagara came out, passed Tasmania, and made a vigorous effort to reach Invercauld, but, failing to do so, was beaten by two lengths, Niagara beating Tasmania by four lengths. Time—3:26½; track very heavy.

THE SECOND RACE

was for all ages for a purse of $500, one mile and three-quarters. The entries were Corsican, Aldebaran, Simple Simon and Lancaster, but the latter, by permission of the judges, was withdrawn, Mr. SANFORD not liking to start him on the heavy ground. Corsican was, of course, a great favorite, $100 to $10 being freely offered on his winning. Simple Simon made the running for the first half mile, with Corsican second, and Aldebaran far behind. Pounding up the homestretch the favorite of Corsican let him out and he shot ahead, was never headed, and galloped home an easy winner by five lengths; Simple Simon second, twenty lengths before Aldebaran. Time—3:28¾.

SUMMARY.

L. B. Holland's b. g. Corsican, 105 pounds..... 1

THE MATURITY STAKES,

for four-year olds, $200 each, half forfeit, with $1,200 added, three miles, had four entries: Bayonet, Vauxhall, Sanford and Abdel Kader, but the two former being lame, and Sanford not starting, the race resulted in a walk over by Abdel Kader.

THE TWO-YEAR-OLD SWEEPSTAKES

of $1,000 each, half forfeit, had three subscribers: Mr. JEROME'S br. c. by Leamington, dam by Margrave; Mr. BELMONT'S ch. f. Lady Love, by Censor, dam Lizzie W., and Mr. HUNTER'S b. f. Intrigue. Mr. JEROME'S colt being dead and Intrigue lame, Lady Love had a walk over. She is a fine slashing filly, and one of the most promising of the Censor stock.

THE SELLING STAKES

of $25 each, play or pay, with $250 added, for two-year olds, three-quarters of a mile, had four runners: H. P. MCGRATH'S br. c. Harbinger, BOWIE & HALL'S b. f. Pantine, PURDY & WITHERS' b. f. Merry Thought, and Mr. JEROME'S b. g. by Warminster—Mary Thomas. The latter was the favorite, selling for $600; Harbinger, $430; Pantine, $200, and Warminster gelding, $200. The favorite and Pantine each ran around the course in the two false starts that ensued before the flag fell, thus jeopardising their chances of winning. Harbinger took the lead, with the Warminster gelding second, and to these two the race was confined, Harbinger winning the
